CCPS (S. Harris) presented read-ins for Special Topics and Experimental courses. For Nursing 212, a minimum grade of a C in BIOL 258 and 259 should be included in the list of prerequisites. CCPS recommended placement of the courses from Modern Languages and Cultures, Biology, and Psychology in the attachment for placement in general education. Motion carried.

The Venango Associate Degree general education checksheet was distributed for discussion. An attempt was made to create a uniform left side of the checksheet for associate degrees with 1/2 of the general education courses required for 4 year degrees. If a student decided to later get a Bachelor's degree, they would have general education courses, but at the same time the students attempting to receive the Associate degree would not be penalized. IB/IC is the crux of the argument: should there be a mathematics competency requirement or should it remain either a mathematics or quantitative reasoning course as proposed by Venango Faculty Forum. The math competency courses recognized by the General Education Council are not required by the accrediting institutions for Occupational Therapy, Nursing and Radiation Technology degrees. M. Parker pointed out that the Council did recommend that the wording be math competency OR quantitative reasoning. There appears to be no flexibility in the curriculum dictated by the national accrediting bodies for these degrees. Math competency determined by the accrediting bodies in nursing is below the level set by mathematics faculty for 4 year degree programs. Senators expressed concern over the low level of quantitative reasoning courses for selection by students. Discussion followed concerning whether General Education for other associate degrees is in place at other institutions. B. Stright pointed out that the associate degree left side of the checksheet was to aid the student should they decide to pursue a Bachelor's degree at Clarion. The current General Education Council suggested that math course could replace the math competency wording. Venango Forum unanimously approved 6 credits from IB, C, or D, and suggested that the best way to deal with this issue is to not increase the number of credits that the students would have to earn because this could affect recruitment.

There was an open discussion of Venango Campus issues. A. Acton welcomed Senate to Venango and provided a thumbnail sketch of the campus. He described some of the new features and stated pride concerning the history of Venango (the oldest branch campus in the SSHE). One important trend has been a shift in enrollment from part-time to full time students but FTEs have remained constant. There are increasing numbers of traditional students. The campus mission is stated in the catalog and it is different than that of main campus. Stand alone two-year degree programs are based upon community needs, but many students are now pursuing baccalaureate degrees simultaneously on both campuses transitioning more to main over time mostly due to geographic reasons. Several programs exist for support of Venango campus students. New programs have been initiated and it has received accreditation (Certificate in Accounting and Office Management Programs, Cooperative Graduate Studies and a Program in Nursing with Slippery Rock). These programs have made a significant impact since enrollment would probably have dropped otherwise. Other program proposals are forthcoming. Coop agreements are being discussed with Pitt –Titusville, Butler Community College and other system institutions. CUP is the leader in the state system in distance learning. Interactive video conferencing has become more popular. The relationship between Main and Venango campuses appears to be frustrating for Venango campus faculty. Sometimes they feel undervalued, slighted, and often ignored by main campus. The point was raised that certificate program approval actually represented one situation where a Venango faculty proposal was moved on quickly. The point was made that since the mission statements are different that perhaps this and the desire for autonomy may be part of the reason for the tensions. The point was made that if Venango faculty are not considered part of main campus functioning then autonomy is a logical substitute, i.e. inclusion first, then if not, autonomy. Further discussion centered around how main campus does not understand the needs of Venango County. Discussion followed concerning how Venango can enrich other programs especially those on main (library resources, good students, etc.). Curricular issues were again discussed as to how faculty at Venango should determine their curriculum because they would know what is best for their programs. The point was raised that broader issues sometimes prevail over departmental expertise. The point was made that CCPS now and in the past has listened to Venango Forum. Having two Deans is frustrating for Venango faculty. Even the teaching schedules are very different between campuses. So interfacing with faculty at main in meetings is made very difficult. Venango Forum in order to act on substantive business would have to develop guidelines /rules to act as an Advisory body. Perhaps the Senate structure could be altered to interface with Forum.
Issue was raised about Venango's financial stability. The Administration has tried to respond to changes in enrollment to increase the selection of program offerings to bring those numbers back up. The campus appears to be healthy although there is a constant struggle with the competition. The point was made that this question has been raised for a very long time and the campus has survived. The question was raised about the daycare situation, and the situation is better than it was. The bus to/from Clarion/Venango has been dropped from discussion. The issue concerning technological curriculum choices versus the traditional academic degree were discussed. The point was raised that employers display the same divergence in best preparation. Another senator raised the point that the 5-year plan provides a procedure for departments to make these kinds of proposals and begin changes.

CCPS (S. Harris) moved approval of course proposals. Math Curricular proposal was pulled out of the recommendation. The point was raised that not all 400 level courses are appropriate for graduate students (e.g., Special Topics). Math 480 & 499 might not apply. CCPS will seek clarification from the mathematics department. Motion carried with striking the math.

Roundtable Report Discussion. See attachment to February 16 and February 23 minutes. The question was asked about how the goals will be followed up on. The hope is that wider discussion will occur before the next roundtable in April. Everyone is encouraged to contribute via the listserv. Different perspectives were represented: faculty, administrators, students, community members, and trustees. Overcoming barriers was one area that was discussed. The point was raised that the roundtable discussions should not be put "on the shelf." Another point that was raised is that our current identity is dependent upon whom you ask. The point was raised that identifying problems is easy, finding solutions is hard. The point was raised that department competition for resources makes it difficult for faculty to have bigger vision. The point was raised that the number of temporary faculty at institutions as a whole is also a problem since temporary faculty don't have a vested interest in university identity and productivity. The point was raised that streamlining our focus would help, including planning student curricula such that they graduate in four years. The point was raised that competition within the university can be good for the university as well. The point was raised that we do rely on each other, so competition with symbiosis is a better analogy. The point was raised that power plays can be a problem to positive change, although if there is nothing else, then that's when power becomes important. The suggestion that an outside force or threat might be a replacement for internal power. Tough choices will be made.

University Center. Faculty Affairs (H. Savage) recommends in light of their full schedule forming an ad hoc committee to deal with this issue specifically. J. Slattery suggested putting out a call on e-mail addressed to "ALL" to solicit membership. A space request was placed for the space now termed the Faculty Dining Room in Chandler. J. Slattery will organize the first committee meeting. Motion carried.

CCR (M.J. Reef) presented five nominees to replace R. Leas on the Foundation Advisory Board. Martha Ritter was elected.

Discussion surrounding General Education Program. The Chair of Gen Ed Council (R. Smaby) presented the role of the Gen Ed Council members. Most of the approval of courses has already been carried out. Much of the attention has been focused on assessment. Web pages provide a way for interested faculty to learn the latest happenings in the assessment of student learning. A seminar was given last semester concerning classroom assessment techniques. The point was made that assessment by the Council has been focused on student learning and not administration of the program. The Chair of Senate investigated how changes would be made to the program. Changes begin at the Council level then proceed to CCPS. The point was made that the program is cumbersome during advisement and that some of the flags may be unnecessarily burdensome. Discussion followed concerning the A flag and whether it’s unnecessary. The point was made that A flags show why the program is a four year program. The question was asked what are faculty’s problems with the program. There were several problems cited concerning how the council responds to faculty who have submitted proposals and the number of loops in language that proposals must conform to. The Council is willing to look at ways to change the procedure. The question was raised about how we will assess our Gen Ed program for Middle States Accreditation and what would be written about? The Provost discussed some ways such as portfolios for the assessment of student learning. The point was raised about how often faculty feel pressured to do tasks for accrediting bodies. The point was made that Middle States isn't saying you must do assessment this way, only that it must be done. The point was made that assessment of our program is important for students and us as faculty. The question was raised about how available the different flags are for students, particularly quantitative reasoning. Certain departments have been having problems even offering flags within the major. Much discussion followed. The question was raised why there are not enough quantitative reasoning courses. Discussion followed about why faculty don't have enough time to offer more courses. The sentiment was raised that assessment of all levels should occur. The question was raised about how do we deal with advisement problems right now? On-course should help and responses have been relatively timely. Support was given for ideas of fulfilling several goals with one course. The next question raised was whether major courses could fit under quantitative reasoning and the suggestion followed that a Q flag replace the quantitative reasoning line that could be fulfilled with either nonmajors or majors courses. The point was raised that deans should probably already have information on the number of flag waivers already written for transfer students about to graduate. The next point was raised that the community college transfer students now have an academic passport and this will probably complicate the issue more in the future.

M. Haggerty moved the Chair of Gen Ed get quarter-time release. J. Slattery seconded. The Provost suggested that this particular task and its association with Middle States Assessment might warrant granting release time. Motion carried unanimously.

M. Haggerty moved that there should be specific tasks for the Gen Ed Council, 1) to consider a Q flag to replace the quantitative reasoning line with courses either inside or outside the major as departments see fit, 2) to consider investigating the possibility that the L and A flags be dropped as requirements from Gen Ed, 3) to consider the management, implementation, and scheduling problems as part of the assessment program (e.g., address the question of whether single sections can be flagged, evaluate the number of course waivers pending graduation), 4) to consider that part of the assessment should determine the level of faculty and administration understanding of and commitment to the program, 5) to consider offering continual advisement workshops on a periodic basis. Slattery seconded. Motion carried unanimously.

M. Haggerty moved that Senate charges the budget committee to work with the administration to assess the budgetary issues surrounding the Gen Ed program.

The Chancellor's office has approved the out-of-state tuition policy change and the administration is hopeful that out-of-state student population will increase. Bill Fulmer was elected state-wide APSCUF President-congratulations. College of Business has received accreditation by AACSB -congratulations. Clarion is the only SSHE school to have this accreditation at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Thanks to all the Senators who worked hard on business this year especially the Chair of Senate for pushing the agenda for treatment of broader issues. Thanks to Pete Dalby especially for his work on the Facilities Planning Committee and Sasaki Associates. Sports Hall of Fame, Class Reunions, and Academic Convocation all occurred this weekend. Congratulations to R. Leary for giving an excellent speech.
A question was raised about a memo sent out by H. Haberacker concerning no net increase in cost concerning positions. The President reiterated the sentiment in the memo that there is in fact no net increase in cost even the number of positions have changed. A question was raised about what the out-of-state tuition policies were for the other SSHE universities. Western SSHE schools appear to making changes faster than their Eastern counterparts.

Course Deletions. CCPS (S. Harris) circulated a list of courses to be deleted (see attachment). A meeting occurred between faculty from Venango, CCPS members and, Gened Council members to discuss the gened requirements for the associate degrees. The decision was made to have Venango Forum develop their own gened guidelines specific for their programs and will then submit these through CCPS and Senate. A. Hall reported that a committee had been formed to address this task last week.

Pew Roundtable. Chair (P. McGreevy) discussed the reasons behind bringing the Pew Roundtable to Clarion University. Discussions revealed that the university is in a competitive dynamic world. There was not enough time to address specific issues. There was an agreement to consider changes in the direction of our university. The Pew facilitator made notes which will be sent to all senators. A list serve also exists for ongoing input. The Chair encouraged input from Senators. The President has offered a series of luncheons for people interested in participating. Also, a white paper will be drafted this summer summarizing the discussion of the Roundtable and wider forums are being planned for next year. Another meeting with the facilitator from Pew will occur next semester. The Provost also reflected the need to bring this to a wider forum and encouraged faculty to continue thinking this summer and take advantage of the momentum started. The point was raised that the students involved will be graduating and suggestions were made for replacements. Discussion followed on the mechanism for the luncheon/dinner series to discuss the white paper.

VIII. Committee Reports

A. Academic Standards--J. Slattery

The two meetings to hear student appeals will probably occur July 30 and August 27, 1998. President Reinhard suggested that given the difficulty in having all members present for both dates that faculty members who have served on Academic Standards in the past could be contacted to serve given their experience. Discussion followed concerning the constitution and bylaw wording. CCR (M.J. Reef) recommended that past and current members of Academic Standards and its subcommittees, or current Senate itself could be recruited to serve on a temporary basis to meet the minimum number. Motion carried. Discussion followed about whether the dates could be set in advance.

B. Budget--R. Raehsler

No report.

C. CCPS--S. Harris

The committee is working on revisions to the proposed changes to the guidelines.

D. CCR--M.J. Reef
No report

E. Faculty Affairs--H. Savage

The committee encourages all senators attend what is proving to be the gala of the year, this year's Retirement Dinner. Participants in the mentorship program were solicited. Past participants need to reissue their interest. The University Center adhoc subcommittee has been formed. They’ve met to set an agenda and will be meeting with the President for lunch.

F. Institutional Resources--P. Dalby

The committee will be meeting weekly before their presentation to the Board of Trustees on May 14th. Parking issues are at the forefront. The Recreation Center and green space issues are still open for discussion.

G. Student Affairs--F. Keen

No report.

H. Venango--A. Hall

A committee was formed to handle the Gened guidelines for Associate degrees.

The Chair thanked all outgoing Senators.

IX. Adjournment

M. Parker moved to adjourn. J. Slattery seconded and the meeting adjourned at 4:55 p.m.

Faculty Senate Secretary

Tamarisk Nixon
Student Secretary
The Faculty Senate met on Monday, September 14, 1998 at 3:30 P.M. in the Enid Dennis Room, Hart Chapel. M. J. Reef chaired with the following Senators present: P. Amrod, K. Bolinger, R. Couch, G. Grejda, A. Hall, S. Harris, V. Harry, F. Keen, S. Kuehn, M. LaRue, R. Leary, E. MacDaniel, P. McGreevy, M. Parker, D. Poljanec, S. Prezzano, A. Rao, B. Register, H. Savage, J. Slattery, D. Smith and Student Senate representative B. McQuillan. Also present were President D. Reinhard, Provost J. Kuhn, and Clarion Call reporters Angela Everly and Mark Striker.

I. Call to Order

M. J. Reef called the meeting to order at 3:32 P.M.

II. Approval of the Minutes

R. Leary moved approval of the minutes. D. Poljanec seconded. The minutes were approved.

III. Announcements

M. J. Reef introduced B. McQuillan, Student Senate representative, and Clarion Call reporters A. Everly and M. Striker. She then provided copies of the Faculty Senate Constitution, By-laws and Membership list to members, noting that these documents were now available on the new Faculty Senate web site. S. Kuehn provided some details on new features of the web site.

IV. President's Report-- D. Reinhard

Recent enrollment figures show the Clarion Campus is down by approximately 45 students. This represents a .8 percent reduction. The President noted that work on recruitment and retention will continue.

The President discussed potential public relations problems caused by a press release from the Commonwealth Association (a conservative think-tank). The press release contained information from a Commonwealth Association report suggesting students are not getting an education the Association believes is valuable. The article stated that students could graduate by taking easy, irrelevant courses at the SSHE and other state-related PA universities. The President noted the substance of the report is flawed and based on hypothetical information rather than on transcript analyses. Reactions have indicated that the press understands the extreme position of the group.

M. J. Reef asked if the local press had contacted the President’s office, the President said no, and was happy to note that there had not been much press coverage of the report throughout the state. When asked about counter measures and whether the Faculty Senate could do anything to help, the President responded that the university presidents were in consultation and care was being taken not to make a pseudo-issue out of the report.

The President solicited topics for the president’s report.

J. Kuhn noted that Academic Affairs have produced a "Rationale for Faculty Positions" form that is to accompany the "Request to Fill or Create a Position" form when requesting faculty positions. This staffing memo will be sent to Department Chairs, probably by the end of the week. Justification for 1999-2000 regular tenure-track positions will be requested initially with temporary positions to follow.

V. Student Senate Report--B. McQuillan

McQuillan discussed Student Senate meeting schedule and requested a list of committees that need student representation.

VI. Committee Reports

A. Academic Standards--R. Leary

Discussed actions from the last academic year. The committee saw 111 students during the 1997-98 academic year readmitting 56 (50%). Four (7%) of the upheld suspensions were overturned in the Provost’s or President’s office.

J. Kuhn noted that this year there are 50 to 60 more suspensions than this time last year.

B. Budget--K. Bolinger

No Report

C. CCPS--E. MacDaniel

No Report

D. CCR--F. Keen

CCR reviewed Faculty Senate Committee membership requests and will move approval of the new committee appointments under new business.

E. Faculty Affairs--H. Savage

The Faculty Affairs Committee sponsored the "New Faculty Orientation" meetings and has reinitiated the successful mentor program. The committee has also started working on the Faculty retirement reception to be held May 12th.

F. Institutional Resources--P. Dalby

G. Student Affairs--D. Smith

H. Venango--A. Hall

VII. Old Business

None.

VIII. New Business

Committee Assignments. F. Keen moved approval of the slate of nominees for Faculty Senate committees. J. Slattery noted that while Counseling Center faculty have served on the Committee on Academic Standards in the past, this practice could discourage students who have worked with the counselor from making appeals to the committee. For this reason she suggested that a counselor not be included. A. Rao concurred. R. Leary expressed concern that policing committee membership based on faculty job description could be a harmful practice to begin. K. Bolinger asked how many students would typically find themselves in this position and could the faculty member simply sit out if a counselee were appearing before the committee? D. Poljanec pointed out that leaving a meeting could disclose a student/counselor relationship. E. MacDaniel asserted that any student planning to approach the committee could shy away from the process if they thought a faculty member serving had a bias against them. J. Slattery responded that the situation was different due to the unique nature of the counselor/client relationship.

F. Keen offered an Amendment to table the member recommendation for the Committee on Academic Standards and to vote on the rest.

D. Smith asked about the membership recommendation for the Subcommittee on Student Activities having two appointees from the same department. Though not preferred as CCR attempts to balance committee membership across colleges and departments, F. Keen stated those selected were the only two who had applied for this particular subcommittee.

After a Call to the question, the motion passed as amended.

IX. Adjournment

D. Smith moved to adjourn. K. Bolinger seconded and the meeting adjourned at 4:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Scott A. Kuehn

Faculty Senate Secretary

I. Call to Order

M. J. Reef called the meeting to order at 3:33 PM.

II. Approval of the Minutes

J. Slattery moved approval of the minutes. A. Rao seconded. The minutes were approved.

III. Announcements

M. J. Reef noted the Social Equity workshops to be presented to the faculty of the various colleges and encouraged attendance. The Faculty Senate workshop on sexual harassment, to be conducted by Dr. Gant, will take place at the October 12 meeting.

M. J. Reef announced Dr. William Julius Wilson will receive an Honorary Degree of Humane Letters at the May, 1999 Commencement.

At the last Faculty Senate meeting M. J. Reef asked for topics for the President’s Reports and found that the overwhelming issue of interest had to do with the university budget. Therefore, at the Policy Committee’s suggestion, we request the President’s Reports for this year focus on the budget and the Budget Committee as well as Senators guide budget issues and that specific talks.

IV. President's Report-- D. Reinhard

President Reinhard provided an update on CUP’s response to the Commonwealth Association report. Dr. Reinhard is developing a press release that will incorporate the SSHE response to the report. She also noted that the Commonwealth Association’s report was the topic of a TV program aired in other parts of the state. This program, hosted by Terry Madonna, has not been broadcast in this area yet, but could appear on a Pittsburgh TV station. Dr. Reinhard’s office will obtain a tape of the program and provide access to those who request it.
Provost J. Kuhn delivered the 2000-2001 academic calendar to the Senate Chair. He noted a four-week period scheduled between end of the Fall semester and beginning of the Spring semester. This period would be an ideal time to facilitate a number of renovation projects scheduled to occur at that time.

V. Student Senate Report—B. McQuillan

No report.

VI. Committee Reports

A. Academic Standards—R. Leary

No report.

B. Budget—K. Bolinger

The first meeting of the Budget Committee is scheduled for Friday, October 2.

C. CCPS—E. MacDaniel

CCPS has met and considered Special Topics, Experimental courses, minor curricular changes, as well as General Education proposals and will present these under new business. The next meeting of CCPS is October 8th at 6 p.m.

D. CCR—F. Keen

Committee on Academic Standards nominations and Honors Council nominations are ready to be presented to the Faculty Senate.

E. Faculty Affairs—H. Savage

H. Savage handed out a Mentorship Program events schedule and discussed high points of the program.

F. Institutional Resources—P. Dalby

P. Dalby observed that the meeting time of the latest Facilities Planning meeting was set at an inopportune time for most faculty to attend. President Reinhard noted that parking has been a major discussion and working topic for the FPC and much effort has been focused in a short period of time to solve the problem of an unexpected 20% increase in student parking permits. Many staff are parking in the stadium parking lot and being shuttled to campus.

G. Student Affairs—D. Smith

No report.
H. Venango--A. Hall

No report.

VII. Old Business

Academic Standards Committee Assignments: CCR nominated the original slate of candidates: D. Nair and J. Jarecki-Liu for positions on the committee. J. Slattery strongly urged Senate to rethink the recommendation. A. Rao concurred with J. Slattery. P. McCreery asked F. Keen if CCR had discussed the situation. F. Keen, Chair, CCR found that Nair had served the committee several times and had only had to excuse himself once in the past due to a friendship with a student’s parents. M. J. Reef noted an analogy in the conduct board meeting when faculty excuse themselves. J. Slattery saw the situation as having the potential for disaster, that students under counseling would avoid making appeals to the A.S.C. and could actually be harmed by the knowledge that a Counseling Staff member was serving on the committee. D. Poljanec noted that Conduct Board procedure was a bit different from that of the A.S.C. R. Leary noted that we assume faculty serving on a committee serve professionally, and doesn’t like the notion that the Faculty Senate could disenfranchise faculty based simply on their job description. J. Slattery argued that students might avoid the Academic Standards Committee if they use the Counseling Center, which would thus disenfranchise students under counseling. M. J. Reef asked if it were possible to excuse oneself without signaling particular cases were counseling clients. S. Harris responded yes, J. Slattery noted that absence could reveal particular students as counseling clients. A. Rao asked about the role of Senate in approving committee membership. D. Poljanec said Senate has deliberated on such appointments before. F. Keen noted that applications for many committees were sparse. K. Bolinger believed that the Faculty Senate was discussing two issues, the present case and policy. P. McCreery noted that Faculty Senate should be aware of ethical guidelines concerning appointments. President Reinhard noted that the Counseling Center is fully accredited. R. Leary asked J. Slattery if she believed a Counseling Center staff joined the committee, would he/she be in violation of ethical guidelines? J. Slattery responded that she believed that a student in counseling approaching the committee with a Counseling staff member serving on the committee, even removing him/herself from the case, could violate confidentiality. A. Hall asked if the students see a list of who is on the committee. The answer to the question was no. Students are unaware of who serves on the committee. According to J. Slattery, confidentiality may not be violated with other students, but with colleagues on the committee.

After a call to question, a vote with show of hands revealed 11 in favor of the appointments as presented, 7 opposed, and 4 abstentions. The motion passed.

VIII. New Business

F. Keen -- CCR moved to support the nominations for Honors Council membership of J. Bartkowski, C. Anderson, and R. Leary. The motion passed.

E. MacDaniel -- CCPS provided a list of read-ins which included Special Topics, Experimental courses and minor curricular changes (See attached). CCPS moved approval of listing BIOL 175: Conservation and Box Turtle and BIOL 224: Human Biology, as electives for fulfilling the requirements in General Education sections II.A. and IV. D. Poljanec asked if the BIOL 175 was already an approved course, S. Harris responded yes. Motion passed.

IX. Adjournment

D. Smith moved to adjourn. A. Rao seconded and the meeting adjourned at 4:15 PM.

E. Faculty Affairs--H. Savage

H. Savage - Presented the Faculty Senate Memorial of Dr. Judith McCrary:

Dr. Judith McCrary, Chairperson of the Department of Modern Languages and Cultures, passed away on Friday, October 30, 1998. Dr. McCrary was devoted to the Department -- its students and faculty, committed to the University and surrounding community, and a fine scholar of Modern Languages. She led the Department in the quest for more effective ways to teach language and became an important contributor to the growth of language instruction at Clarion University. Under her guidance, the Department solidified around a common understanding of its goals and its relation to the rest of the university. She opened doors leading to cultures abroad for Clarion
University’s students. In this sense, she has left students a rich heritage. She courageously fought her battle with cancer and became an inspiration to all. Dr. McCrary was loved by her colleagues and we will miss her in our faculty ranks. Her scholarship and university service have been indelibly marked in Clarion University.

F. Institutional Resources--P. Dalby

The Library Subcommittee met the previous week.

G. Student Affairs--D. Smith

The Student Affairs Committee met two weeks prior.

H. Venango--A. Hall

The Venango Campus Faculty Forum held a meeting during which concern about enrollments and scheduling were voiced. Abrupt scheduling changes on the Venango Campus have made it difficult for some students to schedule. Concerns were also raised about ITV courses and how these courses are evaluated. A. Hall checked into the matter and found distance courses are evaluated and results indicate small courses have positive feedback. The Venango Campus Faculty Forum also raised questions about the future of Venango programs, as some have seemingly been placed in moratorium. D. Poljanec asked what programs would be under moratorium, A. Hall replied that business and CIS 2 year degrees appeared to be in moratorium. Comments were made about the general effectiveness of using ITV for meetings, K. Bolinger asked if ITV could be used for the Spring Faculty Senate Meeting to be convened at the Venango Campus, A. Hall believed this to be possible.

VII. Old Business

None.

VIII. New Business

CCPS recommendations (appended) were presented for revisions and new courses in the Departments of Economics, Communication, Music, PSSP, AGES, and English. E. MacDaniel moved to recommend, the motion passed with a voice vote.

J. Slattery expressed the desire to have reminders sent to faculty about the availability of Faculty Senate Minutes. S. Kuehn will send a periodic message to ALL-L with a link to the Faculty Senate Minutes web page.

IX. President’s Report -- Budget -- H. Haberaecker

Pres. Reinhard and H. Haberaecker presented information about the Clarion University Budget based on a submitted set of questions (appended). Pres. Reinhard explained general procedures of the budgeting process. H. Haberaecker presented information addressing the submitted questions. The discussion revolved around comparative analysis using Clarion University compared to SSHE averages. B. Balough asked about other SSHE institutions not listed in terms of the personnel vs. operation portions of the budget. D. Smith noted that variance and variability measures could be added to give an indication of how important CUP’s deviation from other universities can be regarded. Pres. Reinhard noted that trend analyses would show areas to be addressed more effectively. R. Leary asked about Clarion University’s remedial instruction categories being different from other SSHE institutions – H. Haberaecker noted that our grant funded programs are listed under this category and this may be a different situation from other SSHE schools. M. Parker noted that Lock Haven is an outlier and tends to skew many of the comparative analyses. B. Balough noted that in his conversations with SSHE colleagues at other institutions, he hears few comments about canceling classes and dropping numbers of faculty, and wondered why we experience these budget related problems when other SSHE institutions apparently do not. H. Haberaecker responded that she hears reports of other institutions dipping into their reserves to make up for deficits. Clarion University does not have these reserves and this flexibility. R. Leary noted the dip in enrollment in 1990 - J. Kuhn cited the loss of PA-ITEC and the rise in out of state tuition as a big contributor to that sudden drop. B. Balough asked if "hiring down" is a projected part of the budget. H. Haberaecker responded that division managers do make these projections. D. Reinhard noted that age levels of faculty and staff show that there will be fewer projected retirements in the future, and that Clarion University has low faculty turnover.

X. Adjournment

G. Grejda moved to adjourn. M. Parker seconded and the meeting adjourned at 4:55 p.m.

President’s Report II: University Budget

November 23, 1998

Budget Questions

1. Explain the budgeting process at Clarion University.

   How does the university arrive at its budgeting priorities?

2. Are there informal or formal guidelines the administration has been using to determine the priorities?

3. How are present, as opposed to future concerns prioritized?

4. How do we decide how to divide the current expenditures?

5. Why are we forced to cancel unstaffed sections for spring 1999?

   Why isn't funding available to hire faculty to staff those classes?

6. According to the budget data presented last week, there seems to be no lack of funding for administrative purposes. Why is direct instruction taking such a big hit in the budget crunch? How are budget priorities set that put such a low priority on direct instruction?

7. If we practiced TQM or some other optimization management model, would the processes that directly serve our clientele and generate our revenues be the first to be contracted in a budget crunch? Wouldn't overhead be the first costs to be trimmed? Why is the only fixed overhead that is challenged at Clarion noncontractual faculty release? Fixed administrative costs always seem to be held harmless in the budget process at Clarion. If the objective is to reduce personnel costs, personnel that are used to directly serve our clientele (such as classroom teachers) and generate operating revenue would not be cut. Why aren't these costs ever under the gun? Why is only faculty personnel cost ever under attack?

8. If a comparison is made between the budgeted amount for Institutional Administration to the actual expenditures for 1997-98 from the handouts we recently received, one finds that the Administration overspent their budget by 24% ($1.7 million) in spite of the ongoing budget crunch. This occurs at the same time that instructional activities are being cut. What institutional value or priority does this reflect?

9. Look into the reallocation of funds from personnel compensation to the operating budget so that personnel compensation equals 80 percent of the budget or less. What fraction of Clarion's personnel compensation is identified as classroom instruction? ... As maintenance? ... As student academic support? ... As maintenance and support of library, computer, and laboratory resources? and so on.

10. How important is it to create a reserve? Who makes decisions about how a reserve is spent? How are decisions made about spending the reserve money?

11. How does this administration feel that it can allow overhead (non-faculty) to grow at a rate three times that of faculty and 8 times that of students for 15 years without it having an adverse effect on the fiscal stability of this university?

12. Why are we paying for all these high cost budget advisors when all they do is make simplified choices, such as each department is cut 7%, rather than using any expertise to make hard choices?

13. By constantly making up shortfalls in the budget with general cuts across all departments, are we not saying that when considering what is best for the students' education here at Clarion, there is no difference between a gardener, or a secretary, or a faculty member, or an administrator or cook? That all of these positions are of equal value?
14. When making budgetary decisions, is anyone taking into account anything other than the short-term pluses or minuses? For example, we dissolved the College of Comm, CIS and LS to save the salary of a dean. This has done much to lower the profile of the CIS department as its voice is now just one of at least 18 crying for resources in A&S. It has also had a negative effect on attracting students to our IS program, since A&S is not the place for this program. So, while we hear administration making the case that we need more majors, the area that has shown growth of 50% to 100% at other major universities (recent Chronicle of Higher Ed. Article) we have shown only minor growth. All for the short-term savings of a dean's salary. In addition, doesn't it give anyone in administration concern about what they are basing their decisions on when less than a year after we dissolve our college and bury our technology departments among the bones and muskets of A&S, Penn State pulls all their high tech programs from different colleges across campus, including A&S, to create a new college of high technology in order to give these expected high growth majors a higher profile on campus and essentially going where we had just been?

15. Along the same lines, how are future faculty positions being decided? Again, we should be showing large growth in the number of students majoring in the computer field. Yet, we seem to have an overly difficult time getting faculty positions authorized for our department. We have students heading into their senior year who have been unable to get classes they should have finished a year ago. Now, does anyone really believe these students are going to recommend Clarion to their friends as a place to go for a good education, given that they themselves have had such a miserable time trying to complete the program here? We say we want more students, yet our spending priorities say otherwise.

16. If student/faculty ratio is going to be used as a club against faculty as to whether or not they are "pulling their share of the load" (although I agree with Bill Fulmer, I missed the study that showed low student/faculty ratios was a bad thing), then why is it never used on non-faculty? The fact is, since 1984 the non-faculty/student ratio has been in a constant slide until it is much less than the faculty/student ratio, and still declining. I've seen studies showing the benefits of lower student/teacher ratios, and parents always question me about class sizes during orientation, but no one ever asks me how low our student/non-teacher ratio is nor am I aware of any study proporting to show a positive benefit to the educational outcome of students attending schools overly populated by the non-teaching.

17. It is true that in the first year of our current faculty contract, when we agreed to a zero percent increase in order to help control the costs to the SSHE system, the non-contractual non-faculty members on this campus received a pay increase? If so, what increase did they receive?
President Thomas Gusler, Provost John Kuhn, Brenda Dede, Helen Lepke, Student Senate Representative David Lytle, and Student Secretary Stephen West.

I. Call to Order
The meeting was called to order at 4:05 p.m. by B. Dunn.

II. Approval of Minutes
G. Grejda moved to approve the minutes of March 10, 1997. R. Leary seconded and the minutes were approved.

III. President’s Report—D. Reinhard
Three representatives from Carrier Hall were in attendance to field questions from the Senators. B. Dede presented a report on the Grants Office activities. This report was handed out to everyone present. Increased grant funding is expected for CUP, compared to previous years.

Senators’ questions:

Q.—How does the current grant activity compare with previous years?
A.—This information is contained in the report, "Grant Activity 1994-97." Not all CUP programs are included in the report, since the tracking system is still in development.

Q.—What is the future of your department?
A.—It depends on the money available from grant agencies.

Q.—Where will the opportunities be?
A.—Faculty are encouraged to take the CUP money and the SSHE funds and build these into larger grant opportunities. Often one agency leads to another. For example, Dr. Savage has received a $5000 grant, and is now seeking a $200,000 grant from the Department of Agriculture.

Q.—Can grant proposals be developed through the Internet?
A.—The Web sites will be made available through Dr. Dede’s office.

Q.—Are there ways that faculty can be reimbursed for pursuing this outside activity (writing grant proposals)?
A.—The more people are involved in grant writing, the more graduate assistants and student helpers there will come available. Further incentive to pursue grants is presented by the value of publications and presentations, as well as in the research skills gained in grant writing. D. Reinhard—Currently the base is being built. Soon perhaps there can be assessments done on faculty involvement. In two years there may be a survey determining why the grant writers have pursued this, and why non-participants have not. H. Savage—There is about $100 million available over the next 3 years from the Rural America section of the Department of Agriculture. This is an example of the changing federal priorities.

Helen Lepke provided information on the International Program at CUP. This included brochures and letters about the Culture Nights, study in Malta and Korea, and an International Students brochure. Senators then asked questions of H. Lepke.

Q.—How do these numbers compare to other state university systems in Pennsylvania?
A.—Slippery Rock has over 300 students participating in international programs each year, largely due to the fact that Slippery Rock faculty take them over. However, Slippery Rock spends about $500,000 a year on their international programs, as compared to the $104,000 spent by CUP. This larger amount may be due to Slippery Rock’s commitment to waivers.

Q.—Are there well-established international programs at other schools which we could “piggyback?”
A.—She has in her office examples of CUP students going through our sister schools for international study.

Q.—Is it a disadvantage for students to have their university faculty teach them in the foreign schools, since they might not be immersed in the culture?
A.—The students stay with a local host family even when their American faculty are their instructors. There is often a reluctance among our students for foreign study. Students are often much more interested in international study when their faculty go with them.

Q.—Could there be more places offered that reflect the cultural heritage of CUP students?
A.—This mostly has to do with who wants us. The British colleges are saturated. With Italy it is problematic, since CUP does not offer Italian. Students would have had to learn the language outside of CUP.

Q.—Should we at CUP enhance our language program?
A.—This is possible. One of the best choices for foreign language study today may be Chinese.

Thomas Gusler presented two questionnaires, one for faculty and one for students. This is a system-wide study that will result in several products, including the ability to state the amount of impact that state university schools have on the Pennsylvania communities in which they are located. The questionnaires were designed by Tripp, Umbach & Assoc. Mr. Fogerty will speak with representative groups on campus. Every faculty member will complete the survey and send it to Tripp, Umbach & Assoc. during April. Student surveys will be completed differently. 361 students must complete the survey. Having students mail these would be far less preferred. Instead, T. Gusler will visit demographically representative classrooms to survey students. There will be complete confidentiality in the survey. The second page of the student survey is problematic. Hopefully most of our students will be able to provide the financial information. Students are asked to respond as best they can. T. Gusler will be calling on some faculty for the privilege of surveying their classes. Suggestion (from R. Leas): Students might not be able to produce the financial figures on the spot. Maybe students could receive these in class, then return the surveys at their next class. T. Gusler said he would ask the Tripp, et. al. if this could be done. 35 classes will be surveyed. These will be chosen based on the numbers of each class level in the classes.

When all the data is collected, there will be one study report presented to the state legislature. CUP will receive the data on itself and on the overall compiled system information. Each university’s results will be made known to only that university.

IV. Student Senate—D. Lytle
Elections for Student Senate are ending on Tuesday. The results will be presented at the next Faculty Senate meeting. Current Senators will be shadowed by future Senators so that they can learn the duties involved. The voter turnout has been high. Last year 700 students voted, this year the voters are expected to top 1000. Twenty-seven candidates are running in this election. Budget packets are being debated. The final budget will be brought to the Faculty Senate meeting. The Student Senate is reorganizing itself. FourCouncil Trustee applicants will be interviewed. Deb Boyles and Dave Henry have been asked to attend these interviews.

V. Committee Reports
A. Academic Standards—S. Harris
VI. Old Business
A copy of the revised Conflict of Interest Report was handed out to everyone. The revisions or suggestions were incorporated, and are presented in boldface.

Several weeks ago, Senate removed the discussion of On-Course from the agenda. That was in response to the fact that a grievance regarding On-Course had been filed and we did not want to prejudice the disposition of the adjudication of that grievance. A settlement has now been reached which includes the following provisions: Checksheets will continue to be made available until, at least, one year after full implementation of On-Course. Curriculum changed will continue to be proposed in line with CCPS procedures. Management will continue to work toward the establishment of a page or page(s) similar in appearance to a checksheet for use with On-Course, and no future implementation of On-Course will be made until the aforementioned On-Course checksheet is ready.

The Library Building Committee wants a representative from Senate.

The Senate has forwarded a nomination for Lois Linnan for the CCPS was asked by the Meet & Discuss Team to put together the "Certificate Programs: Definition and Policy" report. Copies of this were handed out to everyone present. Comments concerning this can be E-Mailed. Before proceeding, more Senators should be involved in the consideration of these programs. For the approach to minors, refer to Appendix 5. These programs are for Venango Campus. For Venango Campus’s mission statement, refer to page 131 of the Catalog, which provides a set of guidelines for reviewing certificate program possibilities.

IX. Adjournment
    M. Reef moved to adjourn. D. Smith seconded and the meeting adjourned at 5:35 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
The Faculty Senate met on Monday, April 28, 1997 at 4:00 p.m. in the Enid Dennis Room, Hart Chapel. B. Dunn chaired with the following Senators present: R. Balough, J. Bartkowski, K. Bolinger, M. Campbell, P. Dalby, G. Grejda, M. Haggerty, A. Hall, S. Harris, F. Keen, G. M. LaRue, R. Leary, R. Leas, P. McGreevy, M. Parker, D. Poljanec, M. J. Reef, H. Savage, J. Slattery, D. Smith, B. Stright, F. Towers, and G. Xu. Also present were President D. Reinhard, Provost J. Kuhn, Student Senator D. Lytle, Dean J. Grunenwald, G. Barnes, R. Couch, E. Matson-Stephenson, C. Pineno, R. Raehsler, B. Smaby, R. Smaby, and Student Secretary Stephen West.

I. Call to Order
   B. Dunn called the meeting to order at 4:00 p.m.

II. Approval of Minutes
   M. J. Reef moved approval of the minutes from Monday, April 14. D. Reinhard offered the following correction in the President’s report of April 14. The State System requested a 4.9% budget increase. The Governor proposed a minimum increase of 2% in response. While the Governor’s proposal doubles last year’s increase, this administration continues to offer the State System small budgetary growth despite a large surplus in the state budget. R. Leary seconded and the minutes were approved as amended.

III. President's Report—D. Reinhard
   The President has shared with B. Dunn a list of proposals on course and program changes.

   A State System document, Imperatives for the Future, will be sent to faculty.
Dunn questioned the President about the inclusion of distance learning requirements in contracts for new faculty hired for 1997-98 and the administration’s failure to alert department chairs to these changes to the standard contract. The President replied that this contractual language followed guidelines issued in Harrisburg by the Chancellor’s office.

IV. Announcements—B. Dunn
Following this Senate meeting a new meeting for the 1997-98 Faculty Senate will be held.

V. Student Senate—D. Lytle
No report.

VI. Committee Reports
A. Academic Standards—S. Harris
   Tentative dates for student appeals to academic suspension are August 4 and August 21.

   K. Grugel, chair of the Athletics Subcommittee, will submit a final report at the first Fall 1997 Senate meeting.

   H. Savage, chair of the Admissions Subcommittee, reported on the Get a Life publication. After consulting with focus groups, the committee that drafted Get a Life decided to change the logo but kept the phrase and the exclamation point to provide continuity in their campaign to promote Clarion University. Focus-group surveys showed that Clarion University could improve its academic reputation but scored well in areas such as community life and campus safety. In order to enhance the university’s image, the Subcommittee recommends establishing a formal link between itself and the faculty to publicize faculty activities, particularly scholarly production, and to share ideas about the university’s image.

B. Budget—M. Parker
   No report.

C. CCPS—M. J. Reef
   No report.

D. CCR—P. McGreevy
   Three nominations to the Scientific Misconduct Policy Committee will be considered under New Business.

E. Faculty Affairs—G. Grejda
   The retiring faculty banquet will be held Thursday, May 8, 5-7 p.m. in Moore Hall.

The Mentor/Mentee Subcommittee, chaired by G. M. LaRue will be organized under the Faculty Affairs Committee.

Grejda complimented the administration on its distribution of the emeritus policy.

F. Institutional Resources—P. Dalby
On April 15, Clarion Borough approved Clarion University's request to provide parking space on Greenville Avenue.

Sasaki and Associates recommended renovations to Davis and Keeling Halls. Although there will be no meetings with Sasaki and Associates until fall semester, they continue to seek input from the university community.

The Library Building Committee asks that it have a representative on the Library Subcommittee to keep that body informed of its work.

G. Student Affairs—F. Keen
No report.

H. Venango Campus—B. Stright
No report.

VII. Old Business
B. Dunn brought up the problem of the limited number of offerings for Values I courses in the Fall 197 schedule. Policy committee recommended that incoming students in 1997-98 be exempted from the Values I requirement. The General Education Subcommittee recommended that the university adopt a two-year cycle for completion of Values I courses to allow students to time to obtain their Values I flags. J. Slattery inquired about the means of enforcing the General Education flag requirements for students who failed to meet them.

R. Leary moved that Senate endorse the General Education Subcommittee proposal that students complete the Values I requirement in two years. G. Xu seconded, and the motion carried.

VIII. New Business
P. Dalby, chair of Institutional Resources, moved that J. MacCaferri, the current chair of the Library Subcommittee, serve on the Library Building Committee until at least Fall 1997. R. Leary seconded, and the motion carried.

P. McGreevy, chair of CCR, moved appointment of Larry Bering (Chemistry), Paul Ryberg (AGES), and Steven Harris (Biology) to serve on the Scientific Misconduct Policy Committee. Motion carried.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, recommended Faculty Senate approval for General Education by the discipline of Economics ECON/GS 140: Consumer Economics (General Education II. B., Values I Flag), action number 971346. Motion carried.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, presented proposals for a Certificate in Accountancy, action number 971347, and a Certificate in Finance, action number 971348, for Senate Approval without recommendation.

CCPS was deadlocked and could not give a positive or negative recommendation to the programs. Discussion focused on the merits of the programs themselves and on the decision of Meet and Discuss to change the Guidelines for Certificate Programs drafted by CCPS and endorsed by Faculty Senate. The amended guidelines allow certificate programs on both campuses, reduce the minimum credit hours to 14, and permit any level course to be included in certificate programs. Objections to the programs included concerns about the academic integrity of programs with only three credit hours of English Composition and minimal Mathematics competency; questions about the utility of the certificates in the job market; and objections to approving these initial certificate programs and thereby implicitly endorsing the changes in Guidelines for Certificate Programs outlined above. Proponents of the certificates programs in Accountancy and Finance argued for the programs’ academic integrity and their suitability as stand alone programs. Supporters also noted that these programs offer an opportunity for Clarion University to assist potential students in economically distressed areas like Oil City. In regards to the issue of the Guidelines, supporters asked that these programs, which met the guidelines as endorsed by Senate on April 14, not be linked to Senators’ objections to the actions of Meet and Discuss.

S. Harris moved approval of the Certificate in Accountancy. A. Hall seconded. The motion carried with twenty in favor and three opposed.

B. Stright moved approval of the Certificate in Finance. A. Hall seconded. The motion carried with twenty in favor and three opposed.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, recommended Faculty Senate approval of a change in course name, catalog description, and prerequisites for PHIL 352: Theory of Knowledge, action number 971349. Motion carried.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, recommended Faculty Senate approval of a change in the requirements for the Philosophy minor, action number 971350. Motion carried.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, recommended Faculty Senate approval of a change in the effective date from Fall 1997 to August 1998 for the B. S. Degree in Psychology, action number 971351. Motion carried.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, read into the Faculty Senate minutes the following minor changes:

PHILOSOPHY PHIL 310: Contemporary Western Philosophy; Change: course name, catalog description and change in prerequisites, action number 971352.

PHIL 354: Philosophy of Art; Change: course name, catalog description and change in prerequisites, action number 971353.

SOCIOLOGY Experimental Course: SOC 312: Micro-Sociology, action number 971354.

M. J. Reef, chair of CCPS, recommended Faculty Senate approval of the following changes in CCPS guidelines:

1. Timeline: Important Notes, C. p.13. Change: OLD: No new course proposal may be scheduled until it has completely passed the approval process. NEW: New course proposals submitted fall semester can go into effect no earlier than the following Spring Semester.

2. Section VIII. Changes in Credit Hours or Prerequisites for Existing Courses, C. p.11. Change: [Italicized text is deleted.] C. . . .

. shall inform the proposing department of the result of its deliberations decisions and of the date its recommendation to the Senate shall so read into the Faculty Senate minutes. D. CCPS shall present to the Senate its recommendation with respect to the proposed credit hour change. Effective date: Immediately.

3. Appendix IV: Requirements for the Addition of New Programs Change: Add "Certificate" to list of programs under Information (See page 18). Effective date: Immediately

The placement of English 202, 301, 303, 304 and 356 under section ID of the checksheet was questioned by M. Parker. D. Smith responded that these were passed by the Gen. Ed. Council under that section but would verify. Concerns were raised by R. Balough and M. Parker concerning the placement of Eng 356 particularly. D. Poljanec moved to accept all the English courses except for Eng 356 if they were, in fact, placed under ID by the Gen. Ed. Council. R. Leary seconded. Board of Governors approved an appropriation request of a 7.5% increase that will result in a 3.9 % increase in the total budget. The goal is high quality education at an affordable price.

Governor Ridge signed a capitol bill which will allow further renovations for Carlson and Peirce.
The State Athletic Conference has reissued homecoming dates so the next Academic calendar will need to be altered appropriately. The next Academic Calendar also dictates that Fall grades are due Christmas Eve. V. Student Senate Report--L. Suhr

A new Chair was elected for the Dining Committee. A student awareness brochure is being constructed by the Public Relations Committee. Student Advisory Board has met. This year is the 50th Anniversary of Student Senate.

VI. Old Business
None.

VII. New Business
CCPS (S. Harris) submitted Read-Ins for Special Topics Courses and Minor Curricular Changes (see attachment) approved by Senate on October 8 and 15 by CCPS.

Discussions occurred between J. Kuhn, R. Balough, and J. Slattery about what changes would satisfy faculty for approval of the Academic Honesty Policy. In the cases where dishonesty affects the student's grade, the faculty member would notify student that declination in the grade is due to faculty-judged academic dishonesty and the opportunity for appeal would then take place. It was suggested by Academic Standards that the policy might include a more comprehensive description of academic honesty with concrete examples. Academic Standards or another group of faculty might write this portion at a later time. A revised policy statement will be provided to Academic Standards.

III. President's Report-- D. Reinhard

Clarion had an enrollment increase of 26 FTEs over 1995-96, the only State System campus in western Pennsylvania to experience an increase in enrollment. See attached statistics. President Reinhard thanked faculty for their efforts in recruitment.

The Board of Governors met last week and approved the property purchase. The Board also approved the Chancellor's request for a 4.9% budget increase, but expressed concern that this budget was unrealistic and might be cut by the legislature. The Board urged "management efficiencies" in future State System budgets. The State System budget will proceed to the state legislature where it will be addressed in the Governor's January 1997 budget request and then considered by the Senate and House of Representatives.

The Pennsylvania Secretary of Education has requested that detailed information on items such as student-to-faculty ratios and the proportion of budget money spent on personnel be included in subsequent budget requests.

The President and Provost Kuhn then answered questions from Faculty Senate

Asked about the procedures for allocating faculty positions, Provost Kuhn stated that his office considers recommendations from college Deans who have in turn consulted with department chairs and faculty. The Provost then makes recommendations for departments based on the Deans' advice. The President's role in tenure approval involves conferring with the Provost about the number of available positions. Currently 15 tenure-track positions are being recruited. Position considerations include programs under development, programs requiring special expertise, replacements for retirees, full-time positions. There are currently about 300 tenure and tenure-track positions, 40 full-time temporary positions, and 10-12 part-time temporary positions at CUP.

Asked about present and future factors in determining the ratio of full-time tenure track faculty to temporary faculty, Provost Kuhn emphasized the need for flexibility and planning for unforeseen contingencies such as enrollment fluctuation and budget allocations.

Asked about the uniform deadline for job applications this year, Provost Kuhn replied that the uniform deadline kept costs down.

Asked about the funds available for conducting national searches, President Reinhard and Provost Kuhn stated their commitment to facilitating nationwide searches for prospective faculty.

IV. Student Senate Report--D. Lytle

The Elections Committee collected approximately 600 absentee ballots.

The Safety Committee will conduct self-defense workshops twice each

Faculty Senate met on Monday, November 18, at 4:00 p.m. in B-8 Hart Chapel. Brian Dunn chaired with the following Senators present: Robert Balough, Julia Bartkowiak, Karen Bolinger, Pete Dalby, Gail Grejda, Anita Hall, Steven Harris, Fred Keen, LaRue, Lois Linnan, Patrick McGreevy, Melanie Parker, James Pesek, Donna Poljanec, Mary Jo Reef, Jeanne Slattery, Barbara Stright, George Xu. Also present were President Diane Reinhard, Provost John Kuhn, Gusler, Student Senate Representative David Lytle, Student Secretary Stephen West, M. Anne Shiley, Mary Kavoosi, Carolynn Barton, Audean Duespohl, Nancyann Falvo, John Shropshire, and Harry Tripp.

I. Call to Order

The meeting was called to order at 4:00 p.m. by B. Dunn

II. Approval of Minutes

M. Reef motioned for approval of the minutes of November 4, 1996. G. Grejda seconded, and the motion carried.

III. President's Report--D. Reinhard

The President met with B. Dunn to discuss possible subjects for the President's Report.

C-Net Jr. is running.

Five hundred tickets have been sold for the football playoff game Saturday November 23.

Senators asked questions of J. Shropshire, J. Kuhn, T. Gusler, D. Reinhard, and H. Tripp concerning the marketing of Clarion University:

Question: Schools in New York and Ohio are now offering in-state rates to Pennsylvania residents. How is Clarion University addressing this situation?

Answer: This is an active agenda item for the state system. There is interest in reducing out-of-state costs, or at least providing low-cost recovery for out-of-state students. Lessening the rate of increase will not correct the problem. This subject is on the agenda for the Provosts meetings on November 20-21, including discussion of differential tuition.

Question: What are the percentages of students from the Clarion area versus the Allegheny County area?

Answer: The numbers of students from the main regions are stable. Clarion's largest source of enrollment is Allegheny County, followed by northwest Pennsylvania and southwest Pennsylvania respectively. Recruitment messages are tailored according to region. There is concern that Clarion High School is not among the top fifty high schools that send undergraduates to Clarion University.

Administrators also reported that the University spent $50,000 on its marketing program which has publicized new programs at Clarion University, the University's cost-efficiency 4-year programs, and the caliber of the faculty.

Question: What is the current condition of the University's scholarship programs?

Answer: There is an on-going debate with the Scholarship Committee concerning this issue. Currently 98% of donations are unrestricted, though this proportion is declining. Leadership scholarships, which are only available for the freshman year, are being kept to a minimum of $1500. There is also an on-going discussion in the Deans' Council concerning scholarship programs. Clarion University does not have a sizable scholarship endowment. The endowment stood at $580,000 last year. Increasing that amount is one of the goals of the Capital Campaign. Clarion is currently one of the top 3 schools in the State System for academic scholarships.

Question: How effective are summer programs in attracting students?

Answer: Advertisements have been placed at sister schools. There is an 800 number for interested potential students to call. Clarion is attempting to maximize its offerings. In the last 3 years students have been surveyed about summer programs. Orientations have emphasized summer courses as a means of on-time graduation.

Question: Has Clarion marketed its participation in the Olympics, and its successful football program?

Answer: Yes, these achievements have been highlighted in marketing. The reception of the Clarion Community Award and Clarion's low crime rate have also been emphasized.

Question: What type of marketing is being done of Clarion's natural resources and recreational activities?

Answer: They are stressed in marketing. On-campus activities will greatly increase with the construction of the Student Recreation Center. Currently, Clarion compares unfavorably to other schools in terms of on-campus recreational activities.
