Donato, E. Foster, M. Franchino, S. Heeter, F. Keen, P. Kolencik, R. Leary, D. Lott, C. McAleer, L. Occhipinti, T. Pfannestiel, S. Prezzano, M. J. Reef, M. Robinson, and S. Trejos. President J. Grunenwald was also present, as were B. Perkins (Student Senate) and S. Kurtz (from the Clarion Call).

I.   Call to Order
S. Sentner called the meeting to order at 3:30 p.m.

II.  Approval of the minutes
C. McAleer moved and E. Donato seconded to approve the minutes of December 1. The minutes were approved.

III. Announcements

• Marshawn Evans will present “King-Dreaming: Living the Legacy of HIStory and HERstory” on Monday, January 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Hart Chapel.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
• Recruitment for next year is looking positive. Applications are up 15 to 20 percent over last year at this time, and the number of deposits is up 5 percent. R. Leary asked if a greater number of applications might lead to greater selectivity. J. Grunenwald indicated that the financial implications of the current economic situation are still unknown, and that past practices in admission would be followed.
• The proposed new department of arts and sciences at the Venango campus was discussed at last week’s Meet and Discuss. APSCUF identified three contractual issues. The proposal is being rewritten to address these concerns. President Grunenwald will ask Faculty Senate to look at the revised version of the proposal, and to consider potential curricular issues. APSCUF will also send its observations.
• President Grunenwald outlined Clarion’s transition to a new SAP program. He will be one of four university presidents on the oversight committee. Other Clarion employees are also working on the transition. He emphasized that university presidents and system officials will focus on the functionality of the new system.

- This week, President Grunenwald, the district attorney, and the director of public safety will take part in four sessions to educate students and student leaders about safety and risk-taking behavior.

V. Student Senate – B. Perkins
The Board of Student Government Presidents will meet from February 6 to February 8 at California University of Pennsylvania. The budgeting processes of Student Senate are being reviewed. Two seats are open on Student Senate, and applications are available outside the Student Senate office.

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – B. Sweet
- Associate Provost Rashelle Karp has notified CCPS that the dual degrees of elementary/special education; elementary/library science; elementary/early childhood; and special education/rehabilitative sciences were put into moratorium as of December 19, 2008. This moratorium will last until August 31, 2013, when these programs will be deleted.
- The deadline for submitting Special Topics and Experimental Course proposals to CCPS is February 2, 2009. The deadline for full circulation is February 16. Objections must be made by March 9.

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough
- Faculty Senate was asked to consider the academic calendar for 2010-2011. C. McAleer moved and D. Lott seconded to accept the calendar. The motion passed with one abstention.
- The registrar has provided Faculty Senate with a copy of the new final exam schedule. The exam schedule is different because the final day of classes is on a Monday, rather than on a Friday. The exam schedule remains the same for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Classes that meet on Monday evening will have exams on Friday evening. Senators expressed a number of concerns.
  - J. Beal suggested that a Monday/Wednesday class should be able to have a Wednesday night final, rather than a Friday night final.
  - Questions were raised about when final exams might be scheduled for multiple sections of a single class. T. Pfannestiel observed that Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m. were available.
  - The schedule says that “[s]tudents with three or more tests on the same day may reschedule tests.” Senators would like clarification of this statement, as Friday (the traditional make-up day) will no longer available.
  - T. Pfannestiel noted that although final exams will go until Friday, that semester grades will still be due the following Thursday, giving faculty less time to complete grading.
Y. Ayad asked if the time allotted for final exams (1 hour, 50 minutes) was mandated. Might it be possible to make the exams shorter, thus making it possible to fit more exams into a day?

J. Beal expressed concerns about student work schedules. Should it not be possible to schedule exams for an 8:00 class at 8:00 and a 10:00 class at 10:00?

L. Occhipinti suggested that the final exam schedule is often posted quite late in the semester. Since the schedule is quite different this year, it would help if it was released to students as soon as possible.

C. CCR – L. Occhipinti – no report

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel
T. Pfannestiel reported that the committee reviewed academic suspension appeals on January 8. Sixty-one students appealed their suspensions for the spring. The committee voted to readmit 42 and upheld the suspensions of 19. These percentages are about the same as in years past. He will provide more detail at a later meeting.

E. Budget – M. Franchino – no report

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik
The committee will meet January 30. It will work on planning for the Faculty Retirement Reception, scheduled for April 22.

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson
- Facilities Planning met January 22. The projects at Venango are moving along. The Science and Technology Building is slated to be completed May 16, but is running a little behind. The Starbucks is scheduled to open February 2. The residence suites are open and nearly full.
- The new dining hall is serving 2300 meals a day. Chandler served only 1700 to 1800 meals a day. Because this dining hall is smaller than the old one (while handling more students) traffic problems have arisen. S. Courson indicated that her department had been asked to offer more noon classes, in an effort to spread students’ lunch demand to earlier and later times. C. McAleer observed that scheduling courses over lunch might make it impossible for students to get a meal that they had already paid for, as a student with classes from 10:00 to 2:00, for example, might skip lunch. Y. Ayad asked if it might be possible to provide take-out lunches for students.
- At a previous meeting, C. McAleer had asked if a mechanical arm was being placed in the new lot by Gemmell to restrict entrances and exits. M. Beal said that no such arm would be installed, but that the kiosk was set up so that one could be added later if it should become necessary.
- Renovations on Tippin will be delayed until Peirce is demolished. The Harvey basement is also not on the fall list. V. Bennett observed that there is no place in the Science and Technology Building for Psychology’s laboratory rats.
• The crosswalk in front of Founders is too close to the sidewalk at the corner. The curb cuts in front of Hart Chapel will remain.

H. Venango – D. Lott
Brand marketing is a current topic of conversation. Because the Venango campus has a distinct identity, it needs distinctive brand marketing. In response to a question from J. Beal, D. Lott indicted that there have as yet been no meetings at Venango about the proposed new department of Arts and Sciences.

VII. Old Business -- None

VIII. New Business
A letter from President Grunenwald to Dr. Andrea Lex of the Middle States Commission on Higher Education was read-in. It indicates the progress that Clarion has made in accelerating “implementation of learning outcomes assessment in the general education component of its curriculum.”

IX. Adjournment
C. McAleer moved and S. Courson seconded the move to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:35 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Martha Robinson

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald

• The chancellor faced a number of questions regarding the academic calendar during his recent visit to Clarion. President Grunenwald is looking into the question of whether there is an allowance for a 69 or 70 day academic calendar. C. McAleer asked if there was any possibility of this year’s calendar being changed. J. Grunenwald said no.
• The minority student recognition dinner will take place on April 4 at 6 p.m. in Eagle Commons.

V. Student Senate – B. Perkins

H. Venango – D. Lott – no report

VII. Old Business

VIII. New Business
A. CCPS read ins
The CCPS read-ins were read in.

B. Academic Standards Committee Recommendation
Over the past year, Academic Standards has implemented a new procedure for hearing academic suspension cases. Under the new procedure, the committee evaluated written appeals, rather than having face-to-face hearings. The committee found that under the new procedure the percentage of students who chose to appeal their suspension and the percentage of students who were readmitted remained virtually the same as they had been under the old system. The committee asked Faculty Senate to recommend to the President and President’s Executive Council that the new procedure be made permanent. The motion passed.

C. General Education Assessment – Report to Faculty (no action required)
J. Phillips, on behalf of the Council on General Education, presented a report on General Education Assessment. The report discussed the history of assessment at Clarion, the objectives of assessment, and broad student learning outcomes. The report also discussed assessment methods, the results of the 2007-2008 assessment, and a faculty survey of broad student learning outcomes. J. Phillips emphasized that faculty participation in this assessment program was voluntary. Discussion ensued. R. Leary expressed concern that at some point, chairs, deans, or the provost might say that faculty must include learning outcomes. J. Phillips suggested that the CBA would prevent such compulsion. C. MacAleer and S. Courson said that the emphasis on outcomes is accreditation-driven, and that the college of education must demonstrate its conformity with many identified outcomes. J. Beal indicated that departments that work with the college of education must already take into account its needs. S. Heeter indicated that NCATE wants to see that Clarion is constantly monitoring and improving its programs. J. Phillips suggested that Senate should continue to discuss the issues raised by this report.

IX. Adjournment
E. Donato moved and S. Prezzano seconded the move to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:40 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Martha Robinson

V. Student Senate – B. Perkins
Voting on executive positions has been scheduled. The Reinhard awards will be given next week. The CSA is reviewing applications for the position of bookstore manager. A recent roundtable discussion about RSOs and RUOs (Recognized University Organizations) generated useful feedback.

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – B. Sweet
CCPS had an item in new business.

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough – no report

C. CCR – L. Occhipinti
Senate nominating elections were held last week. Senate elections will be April 21. L. Occhipinti also passed around a sign-up sheet for poll watching.

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel – no report

E. Budget – M. Franchino
- M. Franchino met with Paul Bylaska on March 31. For next year, a tuition increase of 2 percent is projected, with an increase of up to 4 percent possible. There is a 0 percent increase in appropriations. (This 0 percent increase is based on the budget before the 4.25 percent giveback was deducted.) The 4.25 percent giveback was taken from reserves. A 1 percent increase in enrollment is also projected. If the projections of a 0 percent increase and a 2 percent tuition increase are accurate, Clarion will be facing a deficit of up to 2 million dollars. This would leave Clarion in a better position than many other state schools.
- When asked about faculty positions, P. Bylaska indicated that the provost is the person in authority, but suggested that temporary and tenure-track positions should be able to be filled.
- The chancellor has indicated that he is considering changes to the system of performance indicators, to create more goal-oriented standards.
- A recommendation is being forwarded to the Board of Governors that would allow students from neighboring states with sufficiently high QPA and/or class rank to attend Pennsylvania schools while paying in-state tuition.

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik
The Faculty Retirement Reception is scheduled for April 22.

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson
Plans are underway to move into the new science building.
H. Venango – D. Lott

Two nominations were made for chair and two for vice-chair. A nominee is still needed for secretary.

VII. Old Business

A. Venango Arts and Sciences Department

R. Leary expressed concern about the most recent revision of the proposal to create a new department of Arts and Sciences at Venango. He suggested that many departments regularly offer courses at Venango, under circumstances where they could not be replaced by full-time faculty (as in the case of a department that offers only one course per semester). If Clarion departments continue to supply these faculty members, the effectiveness of a Venango department would be lessened. If, on the other hand, they are replaced with temporary faculty, these temporary hires would take money away from the Clarion campus. He also suggested that the question of determining what courses Venango faculty members would be qualified and authorized to teach presents difficulties. If a Clarion department determines what courses a Venango faculty member can teach, would that preclude the faculty member from proposing new courses?

J. Grunenwald indicated that the intent of the proposal was to allow the disciplinary department to review a candidate’s credentials. He indicated that conversations with APSCUF are continuing. He also suggested that the proposed method of evaluating the effectiveness of the pilot project may need to be reconsidered. Perhaps an annual review (involving faculty, APSCUF, administration, and students) would be better than a multi-year review. R. Leary asked if the two recent hires at Venango would be hired into Clarion departments or into the Venango department. J. Grunenwald indicated that both had indicated a willingness to be hired into the Venango department.

V. Bennett asked about the Clarion department’s review of candidates. Could a home department deem a candidate unacceptable? J. Grunenwald said yes.

VIII. New Business

A. CCPS read ins and vote on CCPS recommendations

B. Sweet moved that CCPS read ins be read in. R. Leary asked that numbers 54-58 be set aside. A motion was made to approve the other proposals. The motion passed. R. Leary asked how HPE and the sports management program ended up in Student Affairs, and inquired if the move would affect certification or accreditation. J. Grunenwald indicated that Student Affairs is an academic department, and that certification was not in danger. A motion was made to approve numbers 54-58. The motion passed.

B. Learning Management System Recommendations – Dr. Art Acton

A. Acton is seeking input from faculty about Learning Management Systems (such as Blackboard) and Learning Content Management Systems (LCMS). The current license with Blackboard will expire in June 2010. All licenses statewide are expiring at the same time. Also, Blackboard is planning a major change and upgrade.

A. Acton is attempting to determine whether Clarion should continue with Blackboard or switch to a different system. A. Acton explained that a Learning Management System (LMS) is a system like Blackboard. Such a system includes both an LMS and a Learning Content Management System (LCMS). An LCMS is akin to a file cabinet. It allows faculty to store, manage, and share content. The university may choose to go with a system (like Blackboard) that combines the functions of an LMS and an LCMS, or it may adopt separate systems.

A committee studying the issue has found that faculty members’ top two concerns are ease of transition and security. Faculty members seem to be less concerned with the capacity to share information. Senators expressed a number of concerns. S. Trejos observed that knowing the costs associated with different systems would help in decision-making. V. Bennett inquired about security and passwords. D. Lott asked if a new system might be faster than Blackboard. S. Heeter suggested that any open-source software was likely to be less robust than Blackboard. P. Kolencik asked whose responsibility it would be to make course shells. L. Occhipinti suggested that Blackboard was already slow, and said that putting files elsewhere (in a different system) might make response times even slower. J. Beal suggested that using two systems made it twice as likely that one would not be accessible.

IX. Adjournment

• There is still no agreement on a state budget, which makes all budget projections difficult.
• Saturday, September 19 is “Family Day.” The football team will play against Lock Haven at home. Faculty members are encouraged to attend.

V. Student Senate – no report

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – B. Sweet
The deadline to submit paperwork for special topics and experimental courses is September 18.

B. Student Affairs – S. Sentner
Two meetings regarding requirements for RSOs were held last week. RSO paperwork must be turned in by September 29. RSOs now need to get a special email account in order to request space. J. Beal expressed a concern that student I.D. numbers were being collected in such a way that students might have access to other students’ numbers.

C. CCR – J. Beal
CCR has items in new business.

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel
The committee met to consider student appeals in July and August. The number of appeals was down this summer. The percentage of suspensions upheld was similar to the percentage in past years.
E. Budget – M. Franchino
The budget committee will meet soon. M. Franchino will meet with Paul Bylaska on Friday, September 18.

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik
- P. Kolencik is sitting in this semester for Senator E. Donato, who has a scheduled class during meetings.
- There was a “Meet Your Mentor” reception for new faculty on August 25. Seventeen new faculty members attended. A dinner for new faculty and their mentors is scheduled for September 29.
- The first Faculty Author Seminar of the year will take place on Friday, September 25. Catherine Joslyn and Kaersten Colvin-Woodruff will present.

G. Institutional Resources – Y. Ayad – no report

H. Venango – D. Lott
The Venango committee met this morning. The committee will continue work on the honors program. It will also work on recruiting and on designing an orientation program for Venango.

VII. Old Business
A. Venango Arts and Sciences
The new Venango Arts and Sciences department was approved over the summer and is in place.

VIII. New Business
A. CCR – J. Beal
a. Subcommittee appointments
J. Beal presented the slate of new Senate committee members. He indicated that everyone who submitted the application form on time was seated on at least one committee. Some faculty members appear on several committees, because there were few applicants for some committees. K. Colvin Woodruff inquired why no representative from art was represented on the Lesser Scholarship committee. C. McAleer indicated than no one from art had applied. The motion to approve the slate passed.

b. Honors Council appointments
J. Beal, Robert Frakes, D. Lott, and Jim Lyle were nominated for honors council. The motion to approve this slate was approved.

B. Summer search committee appointments
- During the summer, Senate was asked to appoint members to search committees for the director of the school of nursing and for the interim associate provost. (J. Grunenwald observed that the permanent associate provost position has been eliminated, and therefore the interim associate search has been cancelled.) Senate complied with the request. Tony Johns, Christopher McCarrick, and Judy Jeng were nominated to serve on the search committee for the interim associate provost. Renee Bloom, Angela West, Joyce Keenan, Debbie Ciesielka, Ginny Seybold, and Shelly Moore were nominated to serve on the search committee for the director of the school of nursing and allied health.

- Senators suggested that it was a bad precedent to expect faculty (with nine-month contracts) to do university work over the summer when they are not being paid. It was also observed that some senators were excluded from this process, as they were unavailable during the summer. It was also suggested that if a search is important enough to require the participation of Faculty Senate, Senate’s help should be solicited earlier in the process; in March or April, not June or July. It was also suggested that late searches might not always result in the best candidates being chosen.

C. Presidential Search Process
The presidential search will be governed by policies set at the state level. Faculty will be represented by two faculty members and two alternates. These representatives will be chosen by a faculty-wide election conducted by APSCUF. Nominations are due by noon on Friday, September 18. Self-nominations are welcome. R. Leary indicated that faculty members who are considering nominating themselves (or accepting a nomination) would find it helpful if they know what kind of time commitment would be required in December and January.

 IX. Executive Session
Senate met in executive session to discuss the presidential evaluation.

 X. Adjournment
B. Sweet moved and V. Bennett seconded the move to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:30 p.m.

E. Budget – M. Franchino
- M. Franchino distributed a proposed budget for Clarion University for the fiscal year 2009-2010. There is no state budget yet, so many questions remain.
- The proposed budget predicts a decrease of 10.3% in performance funding. It is possible that change will instead be zero or close to zero.
- The state appropriation is currently projected to drop by 3.4%, but it is possible that the cut will be closer to 10%.
- M. Franchino indicated that summer school brought in more money than had been projected.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
• A budget agreement has been announced, but the revenue side is not nailed down. As a result, budget numbers are still unknown.
• The statewide proposal regarding changing policies on transfer students would have limited effect at Clarion. Clarion receives about 110 transfers from community colleges per year. They transfer, on average, 25-30 credits. In the past three years, only 12-14 students per year have come with two-year degrees.
• The state schools have seen increased enrollment. Clarion’s enrollment was up 4% last year, which is roughly the same as the state average. Edinboro’s enrollment went up 8%. California saw an enrollment rise of 5.5%, and Slippery Rock and IUP both increased enrollment by about 2%.

V. Student Senate – H. Puhalla
• Student Senate is working on a “Good Neighbor” program intended to foster good relations between students and the Clarion community.
• Senate is also looking at promoting student participation in the census.
• One more faculty member is needed for the CSA Board of Directors. L. Occhipinti will put out a call asking for volunteers.

   The read-ins were read in.

F. CCR appointments
CCR moved that Julia Aaron and Greg Goodman be appointed to the Clarion University-Wide Faculty Development Committee. The motion was approved.

G. Assessment
J. Phillips, the chair of the university-wide assessment committee, distributed a proposed mission statement. The packet distributed included a calendar of goals and a proposed five-year strategic plan (for the years 2006-2011) listing five goals, fifteen sub-goals, and sixty-six objectives. Discussion followed. Senators raised concern about the number of goals and their breadth. They asked for more information about the powers and composition of the committee working on this project. J. Cosgrove distributed a packet on the National Survey of Student Engagement (2008). This survey was distributed at Clarion and at many other universities. Final results are available on the IR webpage. The survey suggested that Clarion students report an equivalent level of academic challenge when compared with other institutions. However, Clarion’s numbers on “Active and Collaborative Learning,” “Student-Faculty Interaction,” “Enriching Educational Experiences” and “Supportive Campus Environment” are all somewhat lower than those of other institutions.

• Mr. John Thornburgh, a consultant for Clarion’s presidential search, will meet with faculty leaders on Friday, October 30 from 1:30-2:15. He will also be at an open forum on Friday from 3:15-4:00.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
• There will be a reception on Tuesday afternoon in the library to recognize faculty members who have been tenured and/or promoted.
• The 4.5% cut from last year was not a one-time event. In addition to this 4.5% cut, the new state budget includes a further reduction of 6.9% in appropriations. This will result in a reduction for Clarion of about 3 million dollars. Summer school revenues and revenues from extended studies will help to make up this shortfall. In addition, money from the tech fee will be used to support the salaries of people working in areas that support university technology. Enrollment was up about 4% this year, and that additional tuition will also help.
• After these adjustments, a deficit of about 1.3 million remains. This will be offset by cuts in academic affairs, finance, and student affairs. Some positions in finance and student affairs that are currently filled by interim employees will be eliminated.
• Departments should be aware that the 20% cuts in budgets and the 20% cut in student wages are both real.
• Clarion will receive about 4 million dollars in one-time stimulus money. About 1 million of this money will be used to replenish reserves used in paying off the 4.5% cut last year. Some will be used to pick up deferred maintenance costs. One-time money will also be used to finish up deferred projects. Money may also go to other initiatives.

- One-time money will be used only for one-time expenditures, not for ongoing operations. It is likely that the budget next year will also be bad.
- The new biotech center is expected to generate revenue. Continued growth is also expected in summer school and extended studies.

V. Student Senate – H. Puhalla

- Student Senate is working on a “Good Neighbor” program intended to foster good relations between students and the Clarion community.
- Student Senate is also looking at promoting student participation in the census.
- One more faculty member is needed for the CSA Board of Directors. L. Occhipinti will put out a call asking for volunteers.
- Student Senate is considering implementing a “Historian Chair” to keep records and improve continuity with Student Senate.
- Student Senate plans to rewrite its constitution and its funding policies. It hopes to have these changes completed by the end of the semester.

• Congratulations are due to the men’s basketball and football teams on their recent achievements. Congratulations are also due to the Greek organizations. The men’s Greek organizations have a QPA average of over 3.0
• Changes are being made in performance indicators. In the future, Clarion’s performance will be evaluated primarily in comparison to past performance, rather than by comparison with other schools. Other changes are also being considered. It is believed that these changes will work in Clarion’s favor.
• Clarion did well in performance indicators in the past year. It improved in all but 6 of the 61 indicators. Performance indicators brought the university $2.2 million this year, and $1.9 million last year.

• Concerns were expressed at Policy about the involvement of EOP/Act 101 and Academic Enrichment in the suspension process. VI. New Business -- CCPS

Two items on the CCPS list (numbers 072 and 073) faced objections. The others, coming from committee with positive recommendations, were discussed first.

- V. Bennett inquired how many faculty members would be needed to teach the respiratory courses. It was said that two faculty members would be sufficient. The motion to approve passed.
- The Masters of Education in Curriculum Instruction proposed adding additional courses to its program as electives. The motion was approved.
- The motion to allow Early Childhood Education 417 to be listed on the checksheet under Liberal Education Skills (1C) passed. Concerns were, however, expressed about a tendency to allow major courses to count as general education courses.
- A proposal to list Honors 131 in the General Education category 2C (Arts and Humanities) passed.
- A proposal to delete the W flag and add a Q flag to Rehab 475 passed.

Senate then moved to discuss the proposed minor in intelligence analysis. T. Rourke was asked to present his department’s objections to the minor. This statement was followed by R. Balough’s response. T. Rourke expressed a number of concerns:

- Intelligence analysis programs are most often found linked with Criminal Justice programs, not with Economics.
- The proposed curriculum for the minor has little to do with Intelligence Analysis. Only one IA course is needed for the minor. The other courses seem to have no internal logic tying them together. Also, it is not clear who would teach the course(s) on intelligence analysis.
- T. Rourke suggested that the minor aimed to capitalize on market trends, without sufficient regard for the content of the curriculum. He suggested that Political Science and Criminal Justice do not object to Intelligence Analysis on principle, but would hope to be in on the ground floor of planning any such minor.

R. Balough responded.

- R. Balough indicated that there are only three minors in Intelligence Analysis in the United States. One of these is housed in Economics, one in History, and one in Political Science. There is no reason, therefore, to say that any field has a better claim on the minor than Economics.
- People who work in Intelligence Analysis have degrees in many fields. Both Economics and Political Science are common degrees.
- The minor is not intended to produce experts in Intelligence, but to give students grounding in a variety of skills that are useful to analysts.
- The curriculum content of the minor could be stronger. If Political Science worked with Economics, the content could be improved.
- It would be good to get the program started. Once started, improvements could be made to the program.

Senators raised a number of questions.
• V. Bennett asked if current faculty members have expertise in the field. She also asked who would advise these students. R. Balough suggested that Economics would hope to hire someone (possibly part-time) to teach the Intelligence class. He suggested that he himself would probably advise the students.

• P. Kolencik inquired about the qualifications needed to teach such a class. R. Balough indicated that Economics would hope to find someone who had taught such a class recently.

• E. ter Horst suggested that the minor seemed lacking in structure, particularly compared to minors that feature an internal structure of introductory courses, mid-level courses, and a capstone course. R. Balough and S. Traynor suggested that such a structure is not universal, and may not be applicable for interdisciplinary courses.

• J. Beal observed that many of the courses listed for the minor were upper-division courses with required pre-requisites. If the pre-requisites are taken into account, the minor would require 27 credits. He also noted that a student with a minor in Economics would need to add only 2 or 3 courses to complete a minor in Intelligence Analysis.

• E. ter Horst suggested that collaboration between Economics and Political Science would be needed to make this minor viable. She also suggested that the proposal needed to be rethought to make it more internally coherent.

Senate President L. Occhipinti observed that Senate would need to vote twice, first on the minor and then on the proposed course in Intelligence Analysis.

• Senate voted against the proposed minor. The vote was 10-10. In the case of a tie, the motion failed.
• The IA course passed with a vote of 16 in favor and 3 opposed.

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – B. Sweet
• The committee is still looking into the possibility of changing deadlines so that all program changes (whether submitted in the fall or the spring) would be implemented in the fall, rather than after a one-year period.
• CCPS discussed electronic distribution of proposals. It would like to discuss the matter with EC and Meet and Discuss, in hopes of trying to pilot electronic distribution in the spring. The proposal would require departments to email electronic copies of their proposals to ccps@clarion.edu. About ten hard copies (with signatures) would be sent to CCPS, and proposals would be posted on Blackboard.
• Discussion ensued. C. McAleer observed that if people wish to read proposals on paper, that this plan would simply shift printing costs away from the department making the proposal onto other departments. She observed that it would be hard for senate to discuss proposals if senate members did not have paper copies in front of them. S. Traynor said that she reads proposals at home, and would prefer to have paper copies. Other senators spoke in favor of a change toward electronic distribution. E. ter Horst observed that most people would not wish to print all of the proposals, and could print only those that were needed. T. Pfannestiel said that Senate rarely discussed more than one or two proposals per semester. J. Beal observed that limiting the number of paper copies would save money.
• B. Sweet asked if the proposal would be acceptable if all senators who wanted a paper copy could get one.
• L. Occhipinti called for a non-binding vote. Four senators expressed a wish to continue providing paper copies. Twelve voted in favor of a compromise position, where paper copies would be available to those who wished to receive them, but the number of paper copies sent out would be smaller. Eight would like to see the process be entirely electronic.

K. Student email changes
S. Puleio discussed the upcoming changes to student email accounts. Student accounts will migrate to a service hosted by Microsoft. This shift will allow 10 GB of email storage. Students will also benefit from a new web interface, and will be able to keep their account forever. This system is in use by numerous schools nationally. The new email domain for students will be @eagle.clarion.edu. The students’ email addresses will include first and middle initials and last names, as follows: A.C.Bates@eagle.clarion.edu
An alias function will allow mail addressed to s_username@eagle.clarion.edu to be delivered as well. The service will be activated in February. Senators asked a number of questions about the system. P. Kolencik asked if the new system would be integrated with Blackboard. S. Puleio indicated that it would. Y. Ayad asked if faculty would receive notification of these changes. S. Puleio said that they would. V. Bennett asked if faculty email accounts would be affected. S. Puleio said that faculty accounts do need to be upgraded, but that that change will be considered in a separate initiative. This service is not available for employee accounts. R. Leary asked about cost and security. S. Puleio indicated that there was no fee from Microsoft. Clarion will be an administrator of the service, and will be able to address security issues. The agreement also includes privacy provisions. S. Trejos asked if students’ current emails will migrate to their new accounts automatically. S. Puleio said that they would not, but that students would receive instructions on how to move their emails to their new account. J. Beal inquired about technical support. S. Puleio said that technical support would be available both through Clarion and through Microsoft. T. Pfannestiel inquired about spam filters. S. Puleio indicated that the accounts would use Microsoft’s filtering. Y. Ayad asked if this switch would free up resources on campus. S. Puleio indicated that it would not, as the old email system was very dated.

L. CCPS – B. Sweet
   a. General education proposals
   Three general education proposals were presented:
      • To add a second values flag to SPED 446
      • To list SPED 245 as a writing intensive course

   The motion from committee passed.

Campbell will be coming down soon. C. McAleer noted that there has been very little communication about construction to faculty and staff, which is especially important when there are significant inconveniences. There was a brief discussion. (3) Candidates will be on campus soon for the Director of Facilities Planning position. Faculty are welcome to participate in the interview process.

S. Courson noted that the elevator in Davis hall is out of service, and is being repaired.

E. Donato asked if there are any plans to move towards a non-smoking campus. J. Grunenwald responded that there are many other demands and issues ahead of this one.

S. Courson asked if there are any plans to hire additional administrative assistants. J. Grunenwald replied that it is possible, but no plans will be made until after the governor’s budget comes out in February. Next year’s budget will depend on appropriations, tuition, and enrollment figures, which should become more possible to predict in February and March.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
J. Grunenwald encouraged senators to attend the remaining sessions with provost candidates and provide feedback to the search committee. He noted that the governor’s budget is out, and includes a 3% appropriations increase. Locally, the introduction of the Student Lifecycle Management (SAP) software is significantly over budget. There will be some negotiations about how this is paid. Clarion, like the other Phase I schools, has been making ongoing payments for this system for the last six years of about $750,000, and the total system will cost more than was anticipated. This item may have to be paid for with one-time funds in next year’s budget. With these factors, we would need about a 5% tuition increase to break even. Other factors are still up in the air. Some other line items in the governor’s budget, such as diversity money, are about the same as last year, but there is no line item for internships in high-priority occupations.

V. Student Senate – J. Carey
Student Senate will meet with the final provost candidate tonight. There will be a Safety Walk on Friday 2/15, which will look at wheelchair access. The budget packet will be finalized this week.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald

J. Grunenwald noted that the search for a new provost is entering its final stages, and is moving forward. He attended a Council of Presidents meeting in Harrisburg last week, where the following issues were discussed. (1) The introduction of the Student Lifecycle Management (SAP) software is significantly over budget, and is expected to cost about $600,000 more than anticipated in the fall, and $800,000 through 2012. (2) The Board of Governors has received a draft of a policy on criminal background checks, which would, once approved, affect most hiring processes. (3) There is a proposal for high school graduation exams under consideration by the state legislature. This proposal would establish competency exams; high schools students would have to pass 6 out of ten exams in order to graduate. Some areas might be designated as “core” exams that have to be passed. At this point, the proposal requires high schools to provide remediation for students who do not pass the required exams. (4) There was a discussion of establishing an “urban center” in Philadelphia. (5) There is a PASSHE diversity summit being planned for later in the spring that will focus on recruiting and retaining minority students.

K. Bingham asked about the competency exams requirement that student pass 6 out of 10, and whether these were a specific set of exams of any 6 out of 10. J. Grunenwald replied that some exams might be designated as core subject areas. There was a brief discussion.

J. Beal asked about the urban center, and whether it will be meeting specific academic needs. J. Grunenwald replied that the discussion seems to be of a comprehensive SSHE-style campus.

V. Student Senate – J. Carey

RSOs have received the budget packets. The Senate has formed a Relay for Life team.

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – S. Traynor – No report

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough

There will not be a Majors Fair this year. The committee is coordinating with Student Affairs on other tasks for the committee.

K. Bingham noted that one of the reasons for cancelling the fair was poor attendance by faculty and scheduling difficulties.

C. CCR – S. Sentner – No report

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel

The process for hiring a new director of judicial and mediation services is underway. T. Pfannestiel will serve on the search committee.

E. Budget – S. Montgomery

S. Montgomery met with P. Bylaska last week. At this point, the governor’s budget has a 3% increase in appropriations. P. Bylaska says he is hoping for a 3% tuition increase and a 1% enrollment increase, which would produce a balanced budget. The expenses associated with SAP are higher than anticipated.

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik
The Faculty Author Series featured M. Olivas-Lujan on 2/20 with about 20 people attending. The committee is working on the retirement reception.

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson – No report

H. Venango – D. Lott
The Venango committee will meet Monday. It is working on the admission process for the honors program, as well as honors options at Venango.

VII. Old Business
A. CCR – S. Sentner
Senate had sent wording of text on new Senate orientation and procedures for faculty members to bring business to Senate, to be posted on the website, back to the committee to compare to the bylaws. The CCR committee felt there was no need for a bylaw change. A motion came from the CCR committee to post these texts as a “friendly reminder” on the webpage. The motion passed.

There were read-ins.

B. Presidential evaluation – E. Donato
There is a formal presidential evaluation this year. Surveys will be emailed to faculty before the break.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
J. Grunenwald encouraged faculty to attend upcoming student performances and academic celebrations. He noted that there will be a PRAAC meeting on 4/3 at 3 p.m. in the Founders Conference room which senators are invited to attend. There will be a VizArtz exhibit at 5 p.m. on 4/3 which will highlight many interesting examples of students’ artwork. He noted that the PASSHE university presidents met with the Board of Governors to discuss the SAP implementation and the associated expenses. At this point, there may not be any providers who can offer a single-instance software package at a lower price. J. Grunenwald said he will continue to provide senate with updates on this. He noted that several personnel searches are moving forward: negotiations with provost candidates are underway; campus interviews with five candidates for the business dean are being scheduled; James Stockman has been hired as the new Director of Facilities Planning; an offer is being made for a new Director of Public Safety this week; and searches are being conducted for the director of judicial services position and a new position for the leadership development program in Student Affairs. Also, J. Grunenwald discussed “green” buildings and initiatives here and elsewhere.

Student Senate is working on elections, the Reinhard awards, and RSO budgets.
J. Knepper asked when the RSO budget information will be available. J. Carey replied that budget reports for this year are finished, and Student Senate is working on next year’s budgets, which should be done by next week.
K. Bingham asked about elections. J. Carey noted that most student senators are not seniors; applications for students interested in serving on senate are available online nad outside the office in Gemmell. Voting will be from 4/22-4/24.

VI. New Business
A. CCPS – S. Traynor
1) Read-ins.
2) S. Traynor noted that the General Education committee and CCPS both operate as committees to make recommendations on general education proposals. Issues are therefore being brought to Senate for discussion.
3) A motion was made by CCPS to allow ED 417/617 to count in section IC of the General Education curriculum. This motion came with a positive recommendation from both General Education and CCPS. There was extensive discussion of this motion.
   C. McAleer asked about ED 617, noting that graduate courses do not qualify as gen. ed. courses. S. Traynor replied that graduate students who would enroll in ED 617 do not have gen. ed. requirements, but that the course is cross-listed and the registrar’s office treats it as a single course. She noted that it was not a problem to remove 617 from the designation for General Education. The motion was amended to remove ED 617 and approve ED 417 for section IC. J. Grunenwald noted that the technical issue of separating the courses would have to be checked.
   J. Beal asked about whether specific learning outcomes for this course for general education category IC have been identified. J. Phillips replied that although it is not mandated that departments identify learning outcomes, it was done in this case. The identification of learning outcomes is not yet part of the official process. There was further discussion on this point and on the nature of category IC.
   E. Ter Horst asked more generally about the education courses that are being considered for general education. She noted that students will be taking courses in their majors that count as gen. ed. courses, and that this defeats the purpose of gen. ed.
requirements in encouraging breadth of learning. S. Traynor noted that the courses would be available to meet gen. ed. requirements for all students, regardless of major. R. Leary made extensive comments on the role of the gen. ed. curriculum in supporting student learning, by encouraging learning outside of narrow fields; by preparing students in career changes later in life; and in student exposure to different ways of thinking. He noted that the role of gen. ed. is to support student development as citizens. He read supporting statements from the university mission statement.

S. Traynor noted that the requests for flags were generally well supported, but that CCPS had a split vote on the gen. ed. issues. C. McAleer noted that courses do not have to be from the College of Arts and Sciences to count as gen. ed., but that these changes would move courses that students would take as part of their major to count as gen. ed. courses that students would then take in place of gen. ed. courses. She read statements from the mission statement of general education.

S. Montgomery noted that there may be more of an issue for elementary ed. majors rather than secondary ed majors who are essentially completing a double major. T. Lavin noted that he shared these concerns, and invited comments from the education faculty to support their position.

B. Brancato stated that PDE mandates that students take 9 credits in special education and ELL. A committee looked at the options, and found that there were few ways to meet this requirement and still maintain a 120-credit program. The movement to a learning outcomes framework for gen. ed. makes it possible to fit courses into the gen. ed. side of the checksheet. She noted that if these changes don’t pass, other courses will have to be removed or the degree will have to be more than 120 credits. There was a discussion of these and other options. J. Grunenwald stated that degree programs of more than 120 credits have to be specifically approved by the Board of Governors as exceptions to the 120-credit rule, which is not a simple process.

B. Dunn noted that this issue, and even some of the specific courses, has gone back and forth for a long time. He suggested that it may be time to redefine the gen. ed. curriculum, rather than a piecemeal, course-by-course approach.

H. Savage noted that category IC is where students most often bring in AP credits. C. McAleer replied to B. Dunn’s comments, agreeing that there is a need to look at gen. ed. but also noted that there are time pressures, as some new requirements will be in place in January of 2011, and others in 2013.

J. Phillips noted that many changes are made to gen. ed. for pragmatic reasons, and that the outcomes-based approach is a mechanism to meet pragmatic needs but for good reasons. He suggested that courses should be approved or rejected for gen. ed. based on whether they meet specific outcomes.

J. Beal noted that PDE and NCATE requirements lock out some options, and that the 120-credit limit is an artificial standard, suggesting that a “four-year” standard would be preferable. He noted that the requirements are at odds with each other.

S. Heeter noted that as of 2013, there will be no elementary education certification, as the state is moving to a “middle level” certification for teachers of grades 4-8. The content standards have also changed, and look more like secondary education content concentrations.

S. Hilton noted that the general education council is working with the outcomes-based approach to determine what courses meet the outcomes.
B. Sweet asked whether secondary education students are most likely to use these courses to meet gen. ed. requirements. S. Heeter replied that they may also be used by students who change majors. S. Traynor noted that if the courses are approved, any student may use them to meet gen. ed. requirements. There was further discussion on this issue.

The motion was passed with a majority vote, with 16 in favor, 1 opposed, and 4 abstentions.

4) A motion was made by CCPS to allow ED 110 to count in section IIB of the General Education curriculum. This motion came with a positive recommendation from General Education and a negative recommendation from CCPS. The motion failed, with 9 in favor, 9 opposed, and 3 abstentions.

5) A motion was made by CCPS to allow ED 122 to count in section IIB of the General Education curriculum. This motion came with a positive recommendation from both General Education and CCPS.

B. Sweet asked if the Psychology department had raised any objections. S. Traynor replied that there was no mechanism in this process for them to do so.

The motion passed with a majority vote, with 16 in favor, 2 opposed, and 3 abstentions.

6) A motion was made by CCPS to allow AE 101 and AE 102 to count in section IC of the General Education curriculum. This motion came with a positive recommendation from General Education and a negative recommendation from CCPS.

J. Beal asked what the reasons were for the negative CCPS recommendation. S. Traynor said that she would summarize concerns expressed by committee members as focused on a lack of academic rigor.

C. McAleer asked about how a 1-credit course would be useful for students in IC. S. Traynor replied that it can be used in combination with other courses, or that credits can be divided between categories. J. Knepper noted that there are other 1 credit courses, but the issue here is whether this is a rigorous course. She noted that it is taught by dorm staff, but could be revisited once it is re-configured under Transitions. There was a brief discussion.

The motion failed, with 0 votes in favor, 19 opposed, and 2 abstentions.

7) A motion was made by CCPS to allow HPE 323 and HPE 410 to count in sections IIIA and IIIB of the General Education curriculum. This motion came with a positive recommendation from General Education and CCPS. The motion passed with one abstention.

8) A motion was made by CCPS to allow MMAJ 324, 331, 339, 424, 425 and 426 to count as second values-flagged (S-flag) in the General Education curriculum. This motion came with a positive recommendation from General Education and CCPS. The motion passed unanimously.
VII. Committee Reports

A. Student Affairs – J. McCullough
The committee met on 3/26. They were asked to consider a proposal to modify the Greek plan. The committee decided that it was not the appropriate body to approve the Greek plan. J. Grunenwald said that he sees it as the role of the committee and the Senate to review and make recommendations on the plan, but that the responsibility for the plan is in his office. He noted that there have been issues with the academic performance of Greek organizations, and that the plan is trying to eliminate abuses. J. Phillips said that the proposals should include rewards for organizations that perform well as part of the chapter assessment system. J. Grunenwald reiterated that it is appropriate for the committee and Senate to make recommendations.

B. CCR – S. Sentner

VII. Old Business - None

VIII. New Business
A. CCPS – S. Traynor
1) Read ins.
2) A motion came from CCPS to approve PH 261 to count as a Quantitative Reasoning flagged (Q-flagged) course in General Education. This motion came with a positive recommendation from CCPS and General Education. The motion passed.
3) A motion came from CCPS to remove the restriction clause requiring courses in section III.B. to be one credit courses. This motion came with a positive recommendation from CCPS and General Education. S. Traynor noted that this change would allow additional courses, some of which are three-credit courses, to count as performance courses. C. McAleer noted that only two credits for performance can be counted towards the degree. S. Traynor agreed that this will not change. J. Beal noted that course credits may be split between different categories. He asked if courses in the student’s major would be excluded. S. Traynor replied that they will not. S. Courson asked how performance is defined. S. Traynor said that courses must have a physical learning aspect, and that right now this includes not just athletics but many music courses. T. Pfannestiel asked if departments will still have to apply to CCPS to have specific courses included in this category. J. Phillips replied that they would. The motion passed.

B) Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel

1) Residency requirements for the BS in Radiologic Sciences
A motion came from the Academic Standards Committee to approve to change the residency requirement for the BS in Radiologic Sciences from 60 to 30 credits. This change comes with a positive recommendation from Academic Standards. The motion passed.

2) Revisions to “Student Rights and Regulations”
A motion came from the Academic Standards Committee to change language in the “Student Rights and Regulations” policy on the grade appeal process and the Academic Honesty policy. The text of the changes was presented in a handout. T. Pfannestiel noted that these changes were recommended by PEC based on changes already recommended by Academic Standards.
K. Bingham asked if there is a provision if faculty are not available. T. Pfannestiel replied that the appeal would go to the department chair. J. Beal asked if there is a time limit for faculty to report violations. T. Pfannestiel replied that there is not. He also noted that if a student goes before the conduct board, no record of past conduct is allowed unless the student is found guilty. J. Beal asked if the student has to be notified that a report is filed. T. Pfannestiel replied that students must be notified of the charge, but not of a report being filed. There was a discussion of concerns about students who repeatedly plagiarize.
The motion passed with two abstentions.

3) Recommendations to change the Academic Suspension Appeals Process
A motion came from the Academic Standards Committee to change the Academic Suspension appeals process.
The changes were presented in a handout. T. Pfannestiel noted that the process would change to be a fully written process.
J. Knepper asked if the vote was for a pilot or for a permanent change. T. Pfannestiel replied that it would be for a permanent change but subject to further revision. J. Phillips asked what outcome would be considered negative. T. Pfannestiel replied that there could be a spike in the number of appeals. A potential bad outcome would be a dramatic increase in the number of appeals that went to Academic Affairs. Also, he noted that there were concerns that it might be easier to uphold suspensions without a face-to-face meeting, but that there is no numerical evidence at this point to suggest that face-to-face appeals are more successful. J. Phillips expressed concerns that a written process seems impersonal. T. Pfannestiel replied that the written letters to the students would encourage them to meet with appropriate people, and that the current process is also unfair. J. Knepper questioned whether students choose face-to-face appeals because they have poor writing skills. T. Pfannestiel noted this is also sometimes true of students who currently file written appeals, but that statistics don’t show a consistent difference in outcomes of written and face-to-face appeals. K. Bingham asked if most upheld suspensions are second offenses. T. Pfannestiel said that many factors are considered. J. Beal asked if the committee will have a specific date to consider appeals or consider them on a rolling basis. T. Pfannestiel noted that this is not in writing, but would be possible, and that he would take this idea back to the committee. M. Robinson suggested that instructions for the written appeals would be more clear to students and might make them take it more seriously. There was a brief discussion. R. Karp suggested that Academic Affairs should be added as a committee member or at least an ex officio member. T. Pfannestiel noted that this has to be a separate change to the Senate by-laws, which could be considered in the fall. There was a brief discussion. S. Heeter asked about privacy concerns. T. Pfannestiel replied that this had been discussed, and the registrar’s office felt that privacy concerns were met.

The motion passed.

C. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik

P. Kolencik distributed two hand-outs with recommendations for changes to wording of policies given to new faculty during orientation.

1) A motion came from the Faculty Affairs committee to approve changes to recommended policy statements faculty should include on syllabi regarding students with disabilities. C. McAleer said that some of the language was not clear. There was a discussion. J. Knepper made a motion, seconded by S. Heeter, to send the changes back to the committee to clarify the language. The motion passed, with two opposed.

2) A motion came from the Faculty Affairs committee to approve changes to recommended policy statements faculty should include on syllabi regarding academic honesty. J. Knepper asked who this policy is directed at. P. Kolencik replied that it is for faculty. J. Knepper asked if the language on Turnitin was the exact language on the university website. P. Kolencik replied that it is.

R. Karp thanked the committee and Senate for updating these policies. The motion passed.

3) A motion came from the Faculty Affairs committee to approve changes to recommended policy statements faculty should include on syllabi regarding academic honesty, adding a reference to the website. The motion passed.

V. Student Senate – B. Perkins – No report

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – B. Sweet
The deadline for PDE-related items is today, September 8, 2008. The deadline for special topics is Friday, September 12. Two programs, the school nurse certification program and the principalship preparation program, are in moratorium.

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough – no report

C. CCR – L. Occhipinti
A call is out for applications for membership in Faculty Senate subcommittees. The deadline is this Friday, September 12. The applications will go to Policy the following Monday, then will be considered at the next Senate meeting. The university-wide faculty development committee has opening in business, nursing and allied health, and Venango.

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel
The Academic Standards Committee implemented a new procedure (as previously approved by Faculty Senate) for two sets of appeals held over the summer. The new procedure, which replaced face-to-face hearings with written appeals, was very successful in expediting the process. There were no complaints from students or parents about the new process. The number of suspensions upheld appears to be the same as in previous years, with 31% of suspensions upheld and 69% of applicants readmitted. These percentages have held steady for the past three years. President Grunenwald had approved this change on a trial basis, and T. Pfannestiel plans to request that the change be made permanent if the January hearings go smoothly. K. Bingham asked committee members present if they saw any problems with the new process, and what criteria committee members used in making decisions. M. Robinson said that committee members look for students to take responsibility for themselves and to offer concrete suggestions for how they will improve their grades; as by cutting back on work hours or seeking out tutoring. T. Pfannestiel observed that the committee also gives students guidance about the readmission process and about where to ask for help.

E. Budget – Mark Franchino -- no report

- The comedian Johnny Walker will perform in the Gemmell Multipurpose Room on Thursday, September 25 at 7:00 p.m.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
- President Grunenwald reported on Clarion’s performance indicators. Clarion will likely receive close to the amount the university budgeted ($2.1 million). Clarion’s official headcount for this year is 7100. J. Beal inquired about some of the more volatile performance indicators. J. Grunenwald indicated some ways in which the university improved, as in second year persistence, where Clarion met its target. The percentage of Clarion faculty holding Ph.D.s also went up. On diversity questions, the record is mixed. Retention and graduation rates for African-American students are down, but rates are up for Latino students.
- The Chancellor will visit Clarion on November 7.
- The Biotech Center drawings are about 50 percent complete. A contractor has been chosen, and is working with the architect to complete the design. It is unlikely that the steel order will be able to be filled before March.
- The university has begun to offer sessions about influenza. The first session for students was held last week, and additional sessions will be scheduled for faculty, staff, and students. Clarion is currently acquiring inventory, including masks, gloves, and inoculations. It is also printing posters and encouraging flu shots.

R. Leary inquired about the smoking ban on state campuses. He indicated that the chancellor’s actions are troubling, especially in that he interpreted state law very broadly and did not consult collective bargaining units.

V. Student Senate – Dustin McElhattan

- Five members of Student Senate will be attending the ASGA conference in Chicago.
- The Political Economy Club, the Young Democrats, and the College Republicans will be teaming up to encourage voter registration.

Student Senate was interested in reaching out to international students. D. McElhatten said yes, and added that Student Senate would like to see more participation from all groups.

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – B. Sweet
The deadline for objections on proposals is today, September 22. Hearings will be held on Wednesday, October 1 at 3:30, in B-8 Hart Chapel, if the room is available. Faculty Senate will vote on the proposals October 6. The deadline for non-PDE proposals is October 1. R. Potter asked if it would be possible to get a list of which items fall under PDE. B. Sweet said that he would send out such a list to Senate members.

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough
Student Affairs will schedule a meeting when its list of members is approved. It would welcome suggestions on what the committee might look at. The committee might look into increasing student interest and support for Student Senate.

C. CCR – L. Occhipinti
CCR is currently looking for faculty to serve on the search committee for an Associate Provost. It is also attempting to fill three seats on the University Wide Faculty Development Committee. The deadline for these is Thursday, September 25.

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel – no report

The emergency contact procedures discussed earlier this year have been put in place and seem to work.

VII. Old Business - None

VIII. New Business
A. CCPS read-ins

B. CCR appointments
- L. Occhipinti distributed a handout listing 2008-2009 committee assignments. There are still three slots available for volunteers (one in the Technology Subcommittee and two in Student Affairs). CCR will send out a second call to attempt to fill those slots. J. Beal asked if anyone was not appointed to any committee, and if so, if such candidates had been approached to see if they would be interested in taking the open slots. L. Occhipinti said that four applicants had applied for a committee in which only two slots were available. All four of these had applied to no other committee, and thus the two not chosen were not chosen for any committee. Both of these declined when asked to serve on a different committee. CCR’s motion in favor of recommending the approval of the list of names to fill Senate committees was approved.

- CCR moved that J. Slattery be appointed to a position as an ad hoc member of BART (the Behavioral Assessment Response Team). The motion passed. Sue Bornak had intended to present a discussion of BART to Faculty Senate at this meeting, but was unable to. She will present at the next meeting.

E. Budget – M. Franchino

- M. Franchino provided copies of the budget.
- In an email sent September 23, 2008, President Grunenwald indicated that the Governor had asked all PASSHE schools to set aside 4.25% in case a budget reduction is needed during the year. M. Franchino indicated that the schools have been asked to set aside 4.25% of their appropriations budget (not their entire budget). It is not yet known whether this cut will definitely take place. M. Franchino reported that Paul Bylaska indicated that his recommendation (if cuts prove necessary) would be to finance half of the 4.25% from Clarion’s reserve account and half from the current budget.
- P. Bylaska is also concerned about the probable cost of utilities this winter.

F. Faculty Affairs – S. Heeter – no report

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson
Young-Gyoung Kim has been named chair of the library subcommittee and Robert Nulph has been named chair of the tech subcommittee. S. Courson provided updates on current construction projects, including the Venango Pond, Rhodes Hall, and the Science/Technology Building. The next meeting of facilities planning will be October 23.

H. Venango – D. Lott
The Venango committee met on the Friday before the Autumn Leaf Festival.

VII. Old Business - None

VIII. New Business (part II)

A. CCPS read-ins.

B. Sweet added one item to the list of read-ins: French 302: W1 – Topics in French Literature and Cultures to be taught via Distance Ed. in spring 2009.

B. CCR appointments

L. Occhipinti distributed a handout listing 2008-2009 committee assignments for the Associate Provost Search Committee, the University-Wide Faculty Development Committee, Vacant Senate Committee positions, and the Honors Council. Separate motions to approve each list were approved.
C. BART

- Sue Bornak and Marla Harp described BART (the Behavioral Assessment Response Team) and provided a handout. S. Bornak suggested that the committee was being formed in response to acts of violence on college campuses. Its mission statement says that BART “will consist of various members of the different disciplines throughout the campus community. BART will represent a comprehensive assessment and response to address students who exhibit behaviors of concern.” The committee will also “identify, refer and/or assist any student who may be at risk for depression, suicide, or other psychological/behavioral problems” and “educate the campus community in the identification of these individuals and where to refer for appropriate services.”

- Faculty members would be asked to refer students to BART if they demonstrate certain problems, such as a serious grade problem, a marked change from good to poor performance, changes in mood, or disruptive behavior. In the case of serious problems or threats, faculty would be encouraged to contact Public Safety instead.

- Discussion ensued. K. Bingham asked if faculty or staff might refer a student to counseling without going through BART. M. Harp said yes, a faculty member could refer a student without going through BART.

- R. Leary expressed concern about “monitoring” students. M. Harp suggested that BART would not intrusively monitor most students, including those referred to the committee for a relatively minor matter or referred by only one person. Rather, BART would be most useful in allowing a fuller picture of a student who might be having minor problems in various areas. If faculty and staff from classes, health services, student affairs, and housing all expressed concern about an individual student, BART would be able to act. R. Leary expressed concern that the definition of problematic behavior might include the merely eccentric or annoying.

- R. Leary asked if there was an ethicist on the committee to protect student rights. M. Harp said that perhaps a member like that would be necessary.

- S. Heeter, S. Sentner, and L. Occhipinti inquired about privacy and confidentiality issues for both students and faculty. J. Beal observed that most faculty are not mental health experts, and suggested that it might be problematic for them to identify students with potential problems.

- S. Trejos thanked the BART committee for trying to do something about potential threats.

- D. Lott asked about training for committee members, and suggested that it should be extensive and ongoing. S. Bornak indicated that there would be extensive training.

- L. Occhipinti observed that J. Slattery, Faculty Senate’s BART representative, has background and training in psychological disorders and ethics.

IX. Adjournment
C. McAleer moved and Y. Ayad seconded the move to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:22 p.m.

Mid-level and Masters of Education with Special Education Concentration

2008-4-027

5 Year Program

The new standards require students who are NOT getting special education certification to take 9 credits of special education. These 9 credits have a separate set of standards from the certification standards. Students wishing to add special education at the graduate level would have taken 6 credits that do not meet the standards for certification, as well as an extra 6 credits of student teaching. For this SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCE ONLY we are asking to substitute the following on the middle level check sheets (see attached): SPED 462 for SPED 441, SPED 482 for SPED 442, and SPED 450 for EDML 425. Students would complete both programs of study culminating with student teaching in both certification areas. The SPED 462 and SPED 482 would count on the undergraduate record as well as a competency completed for the Masters of Education with Special Education Concentration. This would result in the awarding of B.S.E.D. Middle Level, M.Ed. with Special Education Concentration, Middle Level certification and Special Education certification after completion of all requirements.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
President Grunenwald said that the Board of Governors will be meeting in Harrisburg this week to discuss a number of issues.

• The Board will discuss the potential 4.25% budget cut. If such a cut takes place, President Grunenwald expects it to be a one-time loss.
• President Grunenwald announced that at the urging of the state system presidents, the Chancellor may terminate the SAP Student Life Management System. If this is done, it may result in cost savings of up to $350,000 per year.
• The preliminary appropriations request for next year calls for a six percent increase.
• The trustees have been disappointed in recent presidential searches that have been controversial or have failed. They hope to determine different ways to approach the problem.
• The presidents, encouraged by the Board of Education, have begun to work through all state policies in order to clean up out-of-date policies and make it possible to make more local decisions. This will be an ongoing process.
• The Department of Education will have representatives at Clarion on October 21 to discuss tech partnership programs and look at issues related to curricular change.
• There will be a November 3 hearing by the Board of Education in Gemmell, during which the Board will gather testimony on continued increases in cost and tuition, in order to address concerns about accessibility and affordability.

R. Leary inquired how much money 4.25% is. President Grunenwald said $1.2 million. J. Beal asked how long SIS would be available. President Grunenwald said through March 2010.

• Clarion University is working on the exchange program with Sanda University in China. Clarion is considering a wide range of participation, including Chinese students studying at Clarion, and the opportunity for faculty to take part in short-term workshops and seminars in China.
• There will be training on investigation-related issues in Harrisburg on November 3. There will also be a teleconference on Pennsylvania’s right-to-know legislation. Although payroll and personnel records will not be affected by right-to-know, other issues (including bidding and email) will be.
• Equity week begins next week. The Equity dinner will be held Wednesday night.
• The Board of Governors has approved the termination of the SAP Student Life Management System. A procurement team is looking at options for new software providers.
• The Board of Governors has approved an appropriations request of 5.7%, which (combined with a 5% tuition increase) would cover projected costs. The Board of Governors also agreed to honor the governor’s request for a 4.25% budget cut, if such a request is made.
• Clarion’s enrollment grew faster last year than any other state-system school, which is good for appropriations.
• The hearings on affordability at Clarion have been cancelled. J. Grunenwald suggested that schedulers had hoped for greater interest from the western half of the state in these hearings.
• J. Grunenwald discussed growth issues and Clarion’s future. At present, Clarion is holding steady on traditional undergraduate enrollment. Its growth is coming through distance education, graduate education, and other non-traditional sources. In the long-term, Clarion will need to decide how to balance a commitment to traditional and distance learning.
• S. Courson asked if the university had a hiring freeze. J. Grunenwald said no, although state government does have such a freeze. S. Trejo asked about retention. J. Grunenwald said that second year persistence had fallen slightly in recent years, from 74% to 72%, but it rose this year.
• K. Bingham inquired about scheduling, suggesting that it seemed that students were able to find classes, although it might be difficult to find open sections. V. Bennett observed that many students have not yet registered. K. Bingham suggested that Math 112 was particularly difficult to get into. J. Beal said his department is working on the issue.
• R. Leary congratulated the pep band on its fine recent performances.

Open hearings will be held Wednesday, November 12 at 3:30 in Room B-8 Hart Chapel. There will be proposals to vote on and new read-ins at the next Senate meeting.

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough
S. Sentner said that J. McCullough reported that the committee met on October 30, and is continuing to clarify and discuss the role of the committee.

S. Heeter reported that Dr. Robert Nulph will present his work as part of the Faculty Author Seminar Series on November 5 in Level A, Carlson Library.

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson
- The Facilities Planning Committee met October 23. Projects are on schedule. V. Bennett inquired about the renovation of Becht Hall. J. Beal said that he would look into when students will move out and where they will be moving. S. Courson praised the new curb cuts in front of Hart Chapel. Discussion ensued. It was observed that curb cuts (without a crosswalk) could create a safety problem.
- K. Bingham asked if the university is making any efforts to be environmentally-conscious in buying decisions. R. Leary asked if soda machines could be made more environmentally friendly. J. Grunenwald said yes to both questions. Hand towels, for example, are made from recycled paper. As soda machines are replaced, they are replaced with ones with automatic thermostats. J. Grunenwald added that a report is being drawn up on sustainability issues.
- S. Courson said that the beds were filled in the two new residence halls. B. Sweet asked if it would be possible to tour the new buildings. J. Grunenwald said that sample rooms would be available for observation.
H. Venango – D. Lott
Recycling should start soon at Venango. Various construction projects (including the pond, sidewalks, and the gazebo and bridge) are finished or nearing completion. IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald

- The Council of Presidents met last week. It is beginning to review performance indicators to consider their effectiveness. J. Beal asked if performance indicators might become more locally based, taking the state’s regional diversity into account. President Grunenwald said this might be possible. K. Bingham asked if diversity standards included gender, observing that Clarion enrolls more women than men. President Grunenwald indicated that Clarion would not place a cap on female enrollment or specifically target males, but might introduce programs that traditionally have appealed more to men.

- President Grunenwald has taken part in a Right-to-Know training session. Right-to-Know will take effect in January, and deans and chairs will need training to implement this law. Much university information will be available to the public. There are thirty exceptions to this law. Discussion ensued about the extent of the new law. Research data is covered under two of the thirty exceptions to this law. More information about the law and the exceptions will be forthcoming.

- Work is continuing on the student information system. The procurement process will begin after Thanksgiving. The Chancellor has indicated that the process will be driven by a committee made up of four presidents and the chancellor’s staff, not by tech people.

- The Chancellor is introducing a task force on doctoral education. Potential areas of interest include professional doctorates in fields such as speech pathology or for nurse practitioners.

- A thorough review of all Board of Governors’ policies has started. Many policies have not been reviewed since the mid-1990s. There are about seventy policies of interest, including contracting and bidding policies.

V. Student Senate – B. Perkins

- The Board of Student Government Presidents met in Harrisburg last Saturday to discuss financial policies and procedures.

- A committee is looking into how other schools do budgeting.

- Student Senate is looking at policies and procedures related to student organizations.

- There will be a leadership conference February 6-February 7 at California University of Pennsylvania.

- April 1 will be the 25th anniversary of the state system. Representatives from the various schools are considering busing students to go to Harrisburg to meet with legislators. There would be logistical problems for Clarion students who wanted to take part in these meetings.

LVI. President’s Report - J. Grunenwald.

J. Grunenwald welcomed Senators back. He noted that the contracts have been signed for the Science and Technology Center with Fiori Construction from Johnstown/Altoona. Once the project starts, the university turns the space over. If there are any issues let J. Grunenwald know.

J. Grunenwald noted that there is good news on enrollment, with full-time undergraduates up slightly, and significant increases in graduate and part-time enrollment. FTE enrollment has increased 3.7%, a higher rate than the average for the SSHE. The exact figure may change slightly over the next few weeks.
J. Grunenwald noted that pandemic planning is ongoing. Groups on campus are coordinating with SSHE and county officials.

L. Nolan noted that Distance Education shows a growth of 78% from previous years. She also said that the Academic Council is being revived, and will be meeting Thursday 1/25 from 3:30 – 5:00 p.m. in 250/252 Gemmell. All are welcome to attend this meeting. She noted that the online human resources process is being tested, with full implementation in May.

J. Grunenwald noted that the Academic Council is part of trying to improve communication. He also mentioned that Fiberrific, a textile show, will be opening on Tuesday 1/23 from 6-8 in the Marwick-Boyd Empty Set Gallery, and the Faculty Art Show will be opening Thursday 1/25 at 5 in the Library Gallery. He said that Saturdays have been a recruitment day for athletic teams, and noted an improvement in academic performance by the football team, with new potential recruits having an average SAT of 990.

J. Beal asked if the walkway behind Peirce will be open during construction. J. Grunenwald replied that he would check. S. Courson asked if construction would impact access to the Peirce Auditorium. J. Grunenwald replied that the auditorium will remain in use. There was a discussion of access to that side of Peirce, which may change if the walkway is closed. J. Grunenwald noted that the bid included renovations to the planetarium. He said that fundraising is going well, and funds above the match figure will go for equipment.

Of these 16, EOP readmitted 2, Academic Enrichment readmitted 1, and Academic Affairs readmitted 1, for a total of 12 upheld suspensions.

Prezzano asked what the issues were with extending the faculty loan period. S. Courson replied that there were concerns about the availability of materials to students.

J. Grunenwald mentioned that enrollment is up 316 students from January 2006. On an FTE basis, tuition and enrollment is up an estimated 2%. He emphasized that it is still early for projections. LXXI. Announcements.

- Meetings with Dean candidates for Education and Human Services and Arts and Sciences are continuing. On Wednesday 2/21 there is a forum for Senators to meet with the Arts and Sciences candidate at 2:30 and with the Education candidate at 3:30, both in B-8 Hart Chapel.

- On 2/20 there will be a program titled “Injustice for All or Not” sponsored by the MLK Series in the Gemmell multipurpose room at 7 p.m.

LXXII. President’s Report - J. Grunenwald.

J. Grunenwald noted that there are two important current issues. First, the governor’s proposed budget included at 3.5% increase for the PASSHE system. He remarked that this is the first stage of the budget process, which will now be moving through the legislature. In order to have a balanced budget with a 3.5% appropriations increase, a 6% tuition increase would be needed. He noted that lobbying efforts with legislators will now begin. The second issue is that a legislative proposal for a technical college is now in a legislative conference. This proposal would establish a program to create technical colleges through partnerships. The governor’s budget included $2 million for this initiative. This partnership model might look like the Applied Science programs at Venango. J. Grunenwald will be investigating this proposal and what it might mean for Clarion as the process goes forward.

K. Bingham asked if this proposal is the same as the northwestern community college that had previously been discussed. J. Grunenwald clarified that it is different. This new proposal is for a consortial technical college, not a community college.

T. Pfannestiel asked how the PASSHE system compares in the governor’s budget to other higher education institutions. J. Grunenwald replied that the PASSHE system has a higher proposed increase than community colleges (3% increase proposed) or the state-supported schools (a 2% increase).
J. Beal asked if the 3.5% proposed increase included line items or special initiatives. J. Grunenwald replied that the 3.5% represents a general appropriations increase, and line items would be additional.

J. Beal asked if the review of the California program had been completed. J. Grunenwald replied that it has, and Cal is no longer recruiting students into the program. There is a proposal, advanced by Cal, to have all 14 SSHE schools participate, with higher standards. He noted that there are a lot of details that would still have to be worked through, and that the proposal is still at a draft stage at the presidential level. There was a very brief discussion of the status of the program at Cal.

T. Pfannestiel asked if there is any announcement on the searches for the Director of Nursing or the Transitions position. L. Nolan replied that there is no announcement yet.

P. Kolencik asked if there is any update on resident students enrolled in distance education courses. L. Nolan replied that she is still looking at this issue. She expects to have a report soon, which will include looking at revenue.

LXXIII. Student Senate – J. Pierce – no report.

T. Pfannestiel noted that the Student Senate is soliciting applications for the position of Student Trustee, with a deadline of 3/1.

LXXIV. Committee Reports.

B. Student Affairs – J. Phillips .

Student Affairs will meet on 2/23 at 2 p.m. They will be discussing the Focus Fair.

E. Budget – J. Beal.

PRAC met on Thursday 2/15. They discussed the most recent budget snapshot.

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik.

J. Knepper will be attending the next Facilities Planning meeting to address space for a Faculty/Staff dining facility in the revised Master Plan. Faculty Affairs received a Presidential Advancement Award of $15,000 over three years to support a Faculty Author Seminar Series.
G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson.

There will be a Facilities Planning meeting on 2/22 at 3:00 p.m.

H. Venango – D. Lott.

An offer has been made to a candidate in the Nursing search. The Advising Handbook is nearly finished. Recruiting for the Honors Program is underway. K. Bingham asked if the honors program is separate from the main campus honors program. D. Lott replied that at the Associates level it is completely at Venango, but student pursuing a 4-year degree can transition to the main honors program.

LXXV. Old Business.

T. Pfannestiel noted that L. Hepler and P. Bylaska will be scheduled to attend upcoming Senate meetings.

LXXVI. New Business.

A. CCPS – S. Traynor.

There were a number of read-ins (see attached).

LXXVIII. Approval of the minutes.

J. Knepper moved and S. Traynor seconded to approve the minutes of February 19, 2007. Minutes were approved.

LXXIX. Announcements.

- On Tuesday 3/6 there is a forum for Senators to meet with the Arts and Sciences candidate at 2:30 in B-8 Hart Chapel.
- T. Pfannestiel offered congratulations to M. Michel and B. Register on the successful performances of Cinderella.

LXXX. President’s Report - J. Grunenwald.

J. Grunenwald also congratulated the Theatre and Music Departments for fine performances over the weekend. J. Grunenwald attended the Pennsylvania Black Caucus on Higher Education last week in Philadelphia. B. Dede is currently the president of this organization, and Clarion had a strong presence at the meetings. J. Grunenwald will be traveling to California this week on a fundraising trip.

Talks are in progress with Capstone Development Corp. regarding on-campus suite-style housing. The timeframe has been moved up, and occupancy is now planned for fall 08 or spring 09. This will parallel the opening of the new dining facility in fall 09. Becht Hall renovations will begin after that.

J. Grunenwald said that he has received the recommendations of the search committee for the dean of education, and he will be moving on that as soon as possible, as well as on the Arts and Sciences search.

M. Michel asked if the suites will be in completely new buildings. J. Grunenwald replied that they will be new buildings, located where Alumni House and Haskell Hall are currently located; those buildings will be razed for the first phase of this new development. In the second phase, Ballentine and Ralston will be razed, and two additional suite-style buildings will be built there. The suite-style housing will occupy four buildings, which will each be four stories tall, with 150-160 students per building. The literature suggests that lower student density is less stressful for students and also creates less wear and maintenance for the buildings. He noted that the existing buildings are not very efficient, and it is better to build new structures than to renovate, with the exception of Becht, Moore, Founders, and Hart, which have more historical significance. J. Grunenwald said that once the housing project is complete, Clarion will offer students a range of options and prices, including traditional dorms, the suites, and Reinhart apartments. This will serve a varied market. This project will be completed over the next four years. It will replace current housing, without an increase to the total number of beds on campus. J. Grunenwald noted that the university wants to be sensitive to the local housing market as well.

LXXXI.  Student Senate – J. Pierce.

J. Pierce noted that April is a busy month for Student Senate, with elections on the 23rd and 24th, a casino night on the 27th, Reinhart awards early in the month, and Campusfest, with the concert by Hinder on the 28th. The Senate elections will be computerized this year, hopefully encouraging greater participation. T. Pfannestiel noted that the deadline for applications for student trustee was extended to 3/8.

LXXXII. Facilities Planning Presentation - P. Bylaska.

P. Bylaska distributed copies of an update to the Facilities Master Plan. He said that the situation for Facilities Planning has changed in the last three weeks, with the solidification of funding to demolish Campbell Hall, and rapid movement on new suite-style residence halls. He noted that the whole face of the campus will change over the next several years. He said he has seen concerns over parking and infrastructure, and reported that he is doing his best to move those issues along, but budget priorities are the academic mission of the campus first, then buildings, then the infrastructure issues. He noted that funding has to be found to build parking on the site of Campbell, possibly as a multi-level parking deck. Alumni and Haskell will be demolished for new housing. University Relations will move to Ralston Hall temporarily, then to Becht after its renovation. Tippin has emerged as a high priority after Becht. The previous intention had been to renovate Marwick-Boyd, but operational costs for Tippin have been very high, and there are some expensive structural issues. Tippin has been placed as higher priority than Marwick-Boyd, which is in better shape structurally. The updated plan is being circulated for comments, and it will then go to the President and the Trustees.

T. Pfannestiel asked if Becht will still be used as a residence hall after the renovation, and also about the status of “one-stop shopping” for student services. P. Bylaska replied that it will not be used as a residence hall, in part because the structure is wooden which is a bit of a safety concern for a residence. With one-stop services, there was hope that this would be done in interim steps, which currently include increased web presence. Some of the one-stop process will be technology-driven, as offices need to share information. One-stop will be enabled through shared facilities but also through combining resources. S. Courson asked about what will be in the space currently occupied by Chandler. P. Bylaska replied that it will be the residence hall and open space.

S. Sentner noted that the stairwell in Egbert is in terrible shape, and asked if there are plans to repair it, as well as problems in Stevens. P. Bylaska replied that the problem in Egbert is actually an issue with the exterior, and it is scheduled to be repaired this summer, and then the inside can be repainted. They will preserve architectural details of Egbert’s exterior in the process of sealing leaks.

P. Bylaska noted that much money for repair and renovation comes from Key 93 money (a real estate transfer tax), which cannot be used for construction. This year, the university received less Key 93 money than expected, but the budget was conservative. The on-campus residence suites and dining facility will be funded through the foundation.

B. Register asked if anything will be done with Moore Hall. P. Bylaska replied that there are no plans for Moore in the short or mid-term plans. They are looking to use operational money to address some structural issues. The second floor can’t bear much weight, and the electrical system is old.

P. Bylaska raised the issue of the faculty lounge. He noted that an area in Chandler formerly reserved for faculty had not been used much. Facilities Planning asked for a better idea of what was needed. He said there had been a discussion of placing a faculty lounge in the new dining hall, but that was precluded by a lack of space. There may be meeting rooms in the new facility that may be available to faculty on an occasional basis. Chartwells has suggested space in Gemmell. He emphasized that all decisions go through a committee process, and that Facilities Planning meeting minutes are on the web.

J. Knepper asked about space in Gemmell for the faculty/staff lounge, since that is a student building. P. Bylaska replied that we have an agreement with the Student Senate that we can occasionally use their space and they can use spaces elsewhere on campus. He said that he expects a similar agreement for the new dining facility.

S. Traynor asked about the size of the new dining facility. P. Bylaska replied that his understanding is that it will be slightly more than half the size of Chandler, which is currently only using about half its tables. There was a brief discussion. P. Bylaska noted that Chandler is very energy inefficient, and with new buildings there will be savings with energy efficiency.

T. Pfannestiel encouraged senators to contact P. Bylaska with comments or concerns. P. Bylaska added that concerns are addressed through the committee process first. He noted that the handout and some additional tables will be on the website. He said that he would appreciate a reaction from Faculty Senate to the proposed updates to the Master Plan.

5) Congratulations to A. Roberts, a math faculty member, and his wife on their new baby.
6) The regional Science Olympiad hosted by Clarion on Thursday 3/22 was very successful. J. Pierce complimented the organizers for their hard work.

IV. President’s Report - J. Grunenwald.

J. Grunenwald attended to Council of Presidents meeting last week, and commented on four important issues discussed there. (1) The governor’s budget included a $2 million line item for establishing two technical colleges in Pennsylvania. The school code was amended in the fall to enable this proposal. At this point, J. Grunenwald said there is little information on this, but the proposal is based on a collaborative model. Exploratory conversations are happening at the state level. This Applied Science programs at Venango partnership model might be a model that would work. Proposals will be accepted as on 7/1. J. Grunenwald will be watching this proposal and what it might mean for Clarion as the process goes forward. (2) The Board of Governors is opening a conversation on tuition policy. The Board has been asked for changes in various areas. Changes to tuition models have been happening in other states. (3) The spring advocacy effort will be starting over the next month. (4) SAP and commonalities were discussed. Of concern was that there are very uneven definitions of academic good standing. The Council of Presidents had a conversation on standardizing this definition. There was some desire to have a common definition, but possibly with some autonomy at the local level.

J. Grunenwald also noted that he will send out an email later this week about the interim provost position and a search for a permanent provost. He welcomes suggestions. He said that his intention is to meet with Senate, APSCUF, and Faculty Forum leadership for advice.

S. Traynor asked if Clarion is interested in the technical college, if there will be one eastern and one western technical college, and if other institutions in western PA have expressed interest. J. Grunenwald replied that Clarion’s interest depends on the model. He said that the structure for the technical college is important – Clarion would probably be interested in a model where we provided gen ed support for a college that issues its own technical degree, but not interested in having “Clarion Technical College.” It may also depend on the financing structure. He noted that the amended school code calls for the partnership to be with a Middle States Accredited institution. He also said it is not clear regionally who may be interested, but it does make sense that there may be an eastern and a western technical college. He noted that the details still need to be worked out at this point, and may represent either a threat or an opportunity. J. Beal asked if there is data on the demand for a technical college. J. Grunenwald replied that the need has been based on per capita projections, not specific research, but also noted that there seems to be strong demand for technical training in some fields.
K. Bingham asked about step-up academic standards, noting that we have been successful with a step-up model. J. Grunenwald replied that different PASSHE schools have had different experiences, depending on their own situation. He said that if a 2.0 standard is implemented without local flexibility, there could be problems. Although 2/3 of universities nationally use a 2.0 standard, public institutions are more likely (50%) to have a step-up model.

J. Beal asked about the appropriations process, and whether the chancellor testified. J. Grunenwald replied that she did testify, but many of the questions were not related to the budget. He noted that the atmosphere on appropriations has been quieter than usual at this point.

V. Student Senate – J. Pierce.

J. Pierce noted that the Safety Walk will be on 4/19. The Student Senate elections on 4/24-4/25, for which electronic voted is being tried. Other upcoming events are the Casino Night on 4/27 and the Reinhardt Awards on 5/2. He also encouraged Senators to direct students with safety or other concerns to Student Senate, which has process to help address student concerns.

VI. Q and A with L. Hepler and S. Puleio.

T. Pfannestiel opened discussion on the final exam schedule for the spring 09 semester, which requires that classes end on a Monday. L. Hepler noted that scheduling constraints are coming out of the PASSHE common calendar. K. Bingham asked when make-up exams would be. L. Hepler replied that there will not be a make-up day. Faculty and students would have to schedule make-ups individually. She noted that the spring calendar may always have this kind of final schedule, but that she has not seen the calendar past the spring of 09. There was a short discussion of how make-ups could be handled, for graduating seniors in particular. T. Pfannestiel noted that faculty have expressed concern that this schedule shortens the time available to finish and submit grades.

T. Pfannestiel also asked L. Helper to comment on the grade change policy. L. Hepler replied that grade changes do not show on official transcripts. Incompletes show on unofficial transcripts but not on official transcripts.

S. Traynor asked about graduate classes that meet on Monday nights, suggesting that time be added to each class meeting so that the final could be scheduled for the final Monday class. L. Hepler replied that this could be possible.

P. Kolencik expressed concern about whether students can register for a course if they do not have the prerequisites. L. Hepler replied that the department builds that in to the schedule. Department secretaries can contact Deb in the Registrar’s Office and a control can be put on the course. This should be done by the end of this week for fall semester. T. Pfannestiel noted that incoming students will preregister for 7½ rather than 10½ credits. K. Bingham expressed thanks to the registrar’s office for responding to faculty concerns about the withdrawal process. She also asked about large classes for first-year students. L. Hepler replied that classes with an expected enrollment over 100 are noted as such. Arts and Sciences is steering freshmen to small classes, and upperclass students to large gen ed classes, partly by controlling the release of seats. She said that SIS has a field that notes maximum expected enrollment.

T. Pfannestiel asked S. Puleio about the switch to student id numbers. S. Puleio replied that the primary conversion of SIS to student id numbers happened on 3/11. SIS has to communicate with forty other computer systems, and some of those changes are still being worked through. Eagle cards are targeted to be completely converted by the end of the semester, and all of those will use the new Clarion id number by the fall. S. Montgomery asked about faculty id numbers. S. Puleio said that at the moment, faculty are being asked to use the iClarion portal rather than web for faculty. Faculty ids will need to be recoded eventually. Employee id number planning is still underway, and announcements will come at a later date. S. Traynor asked if faculty advisor numbers will change. L. Hepler replied that the faculty id will be the advisor id – the new 8-digit number will replace the old faculty advisor numbers.

VII. Committee Reports.

A. CCPS – S. Traynor.

CCPS recommendations for circulated proposals will be forwarded to Senate on 4/16.

B. Student Affairs – J. Phillips.

The Focus Fair will be held on 4/17.

C. CCR – E. Donato.

Senate elections are coming up, with the nomination election 4/3 (faculty should nominate 16 candidates) and election 4/17. A sign-up list for poll-watching was circulated.

E. Budget – J. Beal – no report.

E. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik.

The committee will meet Wednesday 3/21. They are working on the Retirement Reception and the presidential award grant.

F. Institutional Resources – S. Courson.

The Technology Subcommittee has been addressing issues related to updating faculty computers. Computing Services estimates that more than 70 faculty computers are seriously outdated and need to be replaced, and has suggested that some of these systems be replaced with computers that are being removed from computer labs. T. Pfannestiel noted that this issue was discussed by Policy, which supported the idea of updating faculty computers but also that this is not an issue that requires a Senate vote. S. Heeter asked why faculty would want an older computer. S. Courson noted that it is unclear whether there will be funds for new faculty computers. There was a discussion of whether students need their own computers. S. Traynor noted that it is unclear at this point whether labs will continue to have regular computer updates. J. Beal noted that the short term issue is what to do with computers from labs that are being closed. T. Pfannestiel noted that the issue will continue to be discussed with S. Puleio.

H. Venango – D. Lott – no report.

VIII. Old Business.

T. Pfannestiel noted that there is an informal review of the president this year. Faculty comments should be forwarded to T. Pfannestiel by 3/30.

IX. New Business.

A. CCPS – S. Traynor.

There were a number of read-ins.

X. Adjournment.

E. Donato moved and P. Kolencik seconded movement to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:40 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

IV. New Business.

A. CCPS – S. Traynor.

1. There was a motion from CCPS to approve all circulated proposals except those coming from MMAJ (and related prefixes). The motion passed.

2. There was a motion from CCPS to approve all MMAJ (and related prefixes) circulated proposals. This came with a positive recommendation from CCPS.

E. MacDaniel noted that there is an informal agreement between English and MMAJ on two courses to which the English Department had initially objected. The first course was Screenwriting (MMAJ 372). The departments have agreed that this course can be cross-listed in the future, and teaching will be rotated yearly between MMAJ and English. For the second course, Introduction to Film (MMAJ 208) the two instructors have been in contact, and will work to eliminate any overlap.
The motion passed.
3. There were read-ins.
4. There was a motion from CCPS to approve two changes to the General Education curriculum. The first is to add a W-flag to ENG 410, which is a new course. The second is to remove the W-flag from BIO 382, at the request of the Biology department. Both changes received a positive recommendation from the Council on General Education and from CCPS. The motion passed.

V. President’s Report - J. Grunenwald.

J. Grunenwald noted that the tragedy at Virginia Tech is being treated as an isolated incident, and that there is no elevated threat level. He commented on Clarion’s preparedness. While such a tragedy can never be foreseen, there are plans in place for local responses to a wide range of different threats that could occur, and personnel have participated in different kinds of drills. Campus officials are prepared to work with local and regional officials to respond to different threats. Emergency response plans are in place, and are regularly updated. At this time, there is no elevated risk or particular warnings. J. Grunenwald encouraged the campus community to report potential issues to Public Safety, so that they can respond and possibly take preventative steps.

J. Grunenwald also noted that there was an induction ceremony last weekend for Phi Kappa Phi. Also, the Klezmer band will be giving a lecture Tuesday 4/17 in Marwick-Boyd at 11 a.m. in addition to their performance on 4/16. The Reading of the Names will be held in Carlson Level A beginning at 8 a.m. on Thursday 4/19.

S. Montgomery asked about campus policies on carrying weapons. J. Grunenwald replied that weapons are not permitted on campus. Students who may own weapons for hunting or other recreational purposes are required to register them at Public Safety and store them at Public Safety; they must be signed out and back in. Employees are prohibited from carrying weapons on campus, and this would result in immediate disciplinary action. He added that this ban extends to weapons of all types, in addition to firearms. All weapons must be registered and stored at Public Safety.

There was a brief discussion of S. Johnson’s run of the Boston Marathon.

VI. Student Senate – J. Pierce.

J Pierce noted that the Reinhardt Awards will be held on 5/2. Another upcoming event is the Casino Night on 4/27. The Student Senate elections are next week Interviews for a new Student Trustee will be conducted on 4/20.

VII. Committee Reports.

B. Student Affairs – T. Pfannestiel (on behalf of J. Phillips).

The Focus Fair will be held on 4/17 in the Multipurpose Room in Gemmell from 3-5. Faculty should encourage students to attend, especially first and second year students.

C. CCR – E. Donato.

Faculty Senate elections will be held tomorrow (4/17) from 8:30 – 4 in Carlson Library. A sign-up list for poll-watching was circulated.

E. Budget – J. Beal.

The Committee is working on getting an updated snapshot of the budget to date. There is a PRAAC meeting tomorrow (4/17).

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik.

The Retirement Reception will be held on 5/10. Fourteen retirees are being honored, which includes four from last year. J. Beal asked about late faculty retirements. P. Kolencik replied that past practice has been that faculty announcing their retirement after 4/1 will be recognized the following year.

J. Knepper asked about bicycle racks. S. Courson replied that she will bring it up again to Facilities Planning. There was a brief discussion on the need for additional bike racks.

G. Venango – D. Lott.

Campus interviews will be held soon for the chair of Applied Technology. The Venango Honors program is interviewing students. The Advisor’s Handbook is being prepared for distribution.

VIII. Old Business – none.

IX. Additional New Business.

A. Academic Standards – S. Sentner.

In response to a request from the Registrar and Provost offices, the Academic Standards committee has been working on a revision to the language of the Academic Renewal Policy. These changes accommodate students in Associate Degree programs. A copy of the policy, with the proposed changes, was distributed. There was a motion from the Academic Standards Committee, with a positive recommendation, to accept the proposed revisions to the policy. There was a brief discussion of the changes. D. Lott asked about the third paragraph that notes students can apply for academic renewal after completing 12 hours. S. Sentner replied that this will remain the same for both associates and baccalaureate students. She noted that the changes were requested by L. Hepler, since there was no policy in place for associate degree students. The new language parallels the requirements for the policy as it applied to bachelor’s degree students. B. Sweet noted that 18 credits are still deleted for BA/BS students, making the policy slightly more generous under the 120 credit degree. J. Beal noted that it is intended to cover one semester’s worth of credits. J. Knepper noted that the policy limits the exclusion to D and E grades only. S. Courson asked whether these grades are removed from the transcript or only the QPA. S. Sentner replied that the policy states that the grades remain on the transcript but are excluded from QPA calculations. The motion passed.

B. Senate Schedule – T. Pfannestiel.

The final Senate meeting this year will be on 4/30. There will be a regular meeting, then the current Senate will adjourn, and there will be a brief meeting of the 07-08 Senate to elect new officers.

VII. Adjournment.

B. Sweet moved and S. Sentner seconded the movement to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:30 p.m.

Wednesday 5/2 at 7 p.m. There is a Hall of Fame induction and banquet Friday night (5/4) at 6:30. On Saturday there are a number of alumni activities.

On Monday 5/7, J. Grunenwald will participate in a one-day summit for pandemic flu planning with a county-wide group of officials.

As a follow-up to the shootings at Virginia Tech, the PASSHE Board of Governors is looking at emergency plans. These will be reviewed over the next six months, and this review may result in recommendations or new policies.

An interim provost will be appointed for 6/1. J. Grunenwald is still considering candidates and an appropriate model for interim leadership. Based on discussions with campus leadership and the campus community, J. Grunenwald said he has found there is a strong consensus to move quickly with a search for a permanent provost. Ideally, he would like to have a search committee in place so that ads can run over the summer and into the fall, with on-campus interviews in the late fall. J. Grunenwald requested that Senate appoint a search committee before the end of the semester so that the search can move forward.

J. Pierce asked if the Board of Governors would be considering an emergency plan on the Penn State model. J. Grunenwald replied by explaining that the Penn State model is based on a system to electronically reach students via email and cell phones in the event of an emergency. He explained that the specifics of the plan depend on local software and other factors, and that the Penn State model may or may not work elsewhere, although it has gotten media coverage. He said it is not clear yet what recommendations the Board of Governors will make. He also said that there will be a focus on communicating the emergency plan more clearly, including an executive summary of emergency guidelines. In the fall, there will be an assembly focused on emergency planning. J. Grunenwald will consider various models for electronic notification systems over the summer.

P. Kolencik asked about a news story on a proposed “free tuition” plan. J. Grunenwald replied that there has been no specific information on this from the governor’s office, the chancellor, or the Board of Governors. C. McAleer said that the media may be referring to a plan to increase grants to low income students. There was a brief discussion.

K. Bingham thanked the president and provost for attending senate meetings.

VI. Student Senate – J. Pierce

J. Pierce announced that the Reinhard Awards will be presented Wednesday 5/2 at 7 p.m. Student Senate held elections last week; there will be six returning senators and the rest will be new. The number of voters was lower, but this may be due to using the electronic system for the first time. The Casino Night last week was successful. J. Pierce also thanked faculty for supporting the event commemorating the shootings at Virginia Tech. Over 200 students attended, and over $170 was raised. He also thanked the president and provost for their help.

T. Pfannestiel thanked J. Pierce for his service this year.

T. Pfannestiel thanked S. Sentner for her service this year.

E. Budget – J. Beal
PRAAC met recently. J. Beal said it looks as though the budget will be in the black this year. PRAAC noted that some cuts still need to be made. J. Grunenwald said that there are not final numbers because of weather variables. He said that last year some remaining funds were put into the reserve, some was used for special projects, and some went to support strategic planning, and expects the same kind of distribution this year. J. Beal added that the current year’s budget still depends on revenues from Pre-session and Summer I enrollment.
T. Pfannestiel thanked J. Beal for his service this year, as well as B. Sweet for stepping in during the fall semester.

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik

T. Pfannestiel thanked D. Lott for his service this year.

VIII. Old Business – none

IX. New Business.
A. Student Affairs – J. Phillips

J. Phillips distributed copies of a draft of a proposed policy for the process to approve the academic calendar. He noted that there is not much for the committee to do with the movement to the common calendar, which has very little flexibility. This new process will start with the registrar, then Student Affairs and Senate will check the calendar. He noted that the proposal under consideration is a draft of the process, and was approved by Student Affairs and Policy. A motion was made by Student Affairs to approved the suggested process.

D. Lott suggested that the specific dates in the policy be changed to reflect “the first Monday” or similar language. J. Phillips said that the policy could be changed if that wording was preferred. S. Traynor noted that the policy says “by” a date not “on” a date, which gives flexibility. The motion was passed.

B. University Attendance Policy – T. Pfannestiel

A copy of revision to the university attendance policy was distributed. T. Pfannestiel explained that previous catalogs had varying versions of the policy, and the Provost’s office has requested clarification. There was a motion from the Policy committee to approve the proposed revision.

T. Pfannestiel explained that the suggested wording is intended to give faculty latitude in excusing student absences on a case-by-case basis.

K. Bingham asked about the rationale for always permitting an excused absence for military service, if illness is not always excused. S. Traynor replied that the university does not want to penalize students for military service, and that the Policy committee saw a distinction between military service and extended illness. T. Pfannestiel added that he policy provides protection to a student who may be advised to withdraw if his/her absences are too extensive to make it possible for him/her to pass a course. J. Phillips noted that the university may provide benefits to those who serve in the military, which is a minor accommodation for people who may be called up for active duty. S. Courson noted that the policy opens the door for incompletes. T. Pfannestiel said that the university also may refund tuition to students who are deployed, which is a unique circumstance. K. Bingham noted that she is supportive of the need to support students in the military, but questioned how an extended absence can be treated differently depending on its cause. J. Grunenwald said that the policy revision closes a loophole for students whose absences are too long,. The proposed policy allows students to make up work, but eliminates a carte-blanche for student absences. He noted that the policy relies on the good judgment of faculty on a case-by-case basis, which is not a real change from past practice. J. Beal noted that for some classes, such as student teaching, there is no real way to make up missed work. J. Grunenwald added that tuition refunds for student withdrawals for either military service or extended illness are decided on a case-by-case basis.

The motion passed.

B. Provost search – T. Pfannestiel

As an informational item, T. Pfannestiel noted that forming a search committee for the provost search will be passed on to the new senate. He noted the need to move forward quickly with the search, and said that a call will go out as soon as possible for six faculty members of the search committee. There is no designated breakdown, except that one seat should be for a Venango campus faculty unless no one from Venango is nominated. Four additional committee members are appointed by the president. Guidelines for the committee composition were established by the Haynes agreement. The committee will need to meet once or twice over the summer.

C. Final remarks – T. Pfannestiel
T. Pfannestiel thanked J. Grunenwald and L. Nolan as well as all members of senate, for their work during the last year. He especially thanked those senators whose terms have finished. He also thanked J. Brown and M. Michel for stepping in to fill vacancies.

VII. Adjournment

K. Bingham moved and S. Prezzano seconded movement to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:20 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Laurie Occhipinti
Secretary, Faculty Senate

Requests for tenure track positions for the 08-09 academic year have been received from all colleges. The president will be reviewing these over the next few weeks.

New personnel search software has been installed and is being tested. Training on the software will be offered soon.

The deadline for full consideration in the provost search was 9/21. The committee will be reviewing applications.

S. Montgomery asked how many applications have been received. T. Pfannestiel replied that the pool is a good size, and more applications are still coming in.

V. Student Senate – M. Loveless

Student Senate is getting into the swing of the semester, with subcommittees meeting.

VI. Committee Reports
A. CCPS – S. Traynor

S. Traynor met with new committee members on 9/12 for orientation. The deadline for circulating proposals is 10/1.

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough

Two students have joined the committee, which is now complete. The subcommittee for student activities also has student members, one of whom has been nominated as chair. J. McCullough asked if it was possible for a student to serve as chair. There was a brief discussion, in which senators concurred that a student could serve as chair.

C. CCR – S. Sentner

New members to Faculty Senate subcommittee were notified by email, with a hard copy going out this week.

A call went out last week for members for a search committee for the dean of the College of Business. Nominations must be received by 10/3.

A call for faculty representatives to the UTAC committee went out today. The committee needs a representative from each college and one from Nursing.

J. Phillips asked if anyone from the Senate Technology Subcommittee is also on UTAC. S. Courson replied that last year there was a cross-member, but if that were not the case this year UTAC requested that someone from the Senate committee attend UTAC meetings.

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel – No report

A breakfast meeting for the mentoring program was held on 9/18 with 27 people in attendance. The workshop on disabilities will be held on Wednesday this week (see announcements).
K. Bingham noted that there has been an increase in the number of students with disabilities, and that the fastest growing category is students with emotional disabilities, making this an important workshop for faculty.

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson

Subcommittees are meeting this week to elect chairs. The Facilities Planning Committee will meet 9/27 at 3:00 pm in the Carrier Board Room.

Both subcommittees met last week, and elected chairs. R. Nulph will chair the technology subcommittee and D. Ellermeyer will chair the library subcommittee. Facilities Planning met on 9/27. Meeting highlights focused on new construction starting on campus for the new dining facility. Fences will go up in front of Carrier which will change traffic patterns, as one driveway will close. Some parking will be lost. Parking is better this semester, with few complaints. All construction should be starting soon. Because all three new buildings will be green, bike racks will be installed. They are looking at racks that are set into the ground and can be plowed over. There should be more information on this by December.

K. Bingham commented on the need to allow faculty to pull into service area to unload. S. Courson replied that several buildings need loading zones, which Facilities Planning is trying to address.

H. Venango – D. Lott

The committee met 9/25. The committee met last week. They are working on Honors program, the advising program, and summer academies. Last year Venango hosted a health careers academy, which went well, and there are ideas about some other ones for next summer.

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald

J. Grunenwald provided an update on the MRSA situation. In response to a student’s self-reported case of MRSA, 500-600 people, including all athletes, were screened within hours. About 100 cases were cultured, and two cases of MRSA were confirmed, as well as about 3 dozen other cases of staph infection, which is what would be expected in a population of that size. These were treated appropriately. The administration consulted with the department of health in order to decide on the appropriate response, which included sanitizing a number of buildings. The emergency response system was used, which included a phone messaging system, which worked well but also indicated that many people do not have voice message capabilities. An alert was posted on the web page, and email was sent out, which used a new high-priority email system. Although MRSA is a serious condition, it does seem to be contained. J. Grunenwald noted that he wants people to be assured that the situation was taken seriously and to understand how decisions were made. He also offered thanks to the custodial staff, the health center staff, and university relations for their excellent response.

K. Bingham asked about the student who self-reported the infection. J. Grunenwald noted that the student may not compete until he has been medically cleared, and other students with staph infections are also under medical supervision and may compete after 48 hours once they have been treated and reviewed medically.

S. Montgomery asked about how performance indicator funding has changed the budget picture for this year. J. Grunenwald replied that although the performance indicator funding was disappointing, at about $400,000 less than expected, the budget plan has not changed substantially. Performance funding was down because of lower retention rates and the retirement of a number of faculty with PhDs. However, there are a larger number of international students and increased FTE, which have counterbalanced the funding loss. Twenty tenure lines have been approved, in rough proportions to each college and division. Temporary faculty requests will be considered to enhance schedules for the spring and for next year. There is no change in funding available for faculty computers, at about $100,000, which will be distributed via the deans. There is some one-time money through ISF and year-end money. The general reserves have been augmented by about $300,000 and facilities reserves by about $500,000.

There was a brief discussion about dual-enrollment programs in the state system.

E. Donato noted that there have been some questions about the memo distributed last week on faculty leave attendance, especially about needing to notify the dean of room changes and about the tone of the memo itself. J. Grunenwald replied that first, many classroom changes can be anticipated. Classes that frequently change location could have semester-long approval. He said that the memo was needed because there were faculty who were not where they were assigned to be. The memo was issued as a reminder, and for new faculty and new chairs. He noted that the vast majority of faculty do fulfill their responsibilities and the memo is an attempt at a common understanding. He noted that there have been disputes about some issues, and the memo tried to take a very neutral tone that reflected contract language rather than any criticism.

K. Bingham asked about the memo that is usually issued about final exam policies. J. Grunenwald replied that there will be some changes to the wording of this memo when it is sent out this semester.

On Friday afternoon, he met with the search committee for the COBA dean, and they reviewed the dean’s job description. This week, there will be a Council of Presidents’ meeting in Harrisburg. He expects that there may be an update on the count in the high school program. The deans have advanced requests for full time temp faculty for next fall. New software is being used for all full time positions next spring, but there will still be paper forms used for spring quarter and half time positions. He noted that the computer system for hiring is very robust, with fully integrated forms. On Thursday evening Clarion will be hosting a delegation from Howard University of administrators and ABDs to discuss the Douglass scholars program. Also, J. Grunenwald informed senate that Clarion trustee Richard Hilinkski had a stroke last week, and is in recovery.

V. Student Senate – M. Loveless

VI. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – S. Traynor

There will be a hearing this Wednesday for all proposals in Arts and Sciences, and on 11/14 for all proposals in Education and Human Services and Nursing. A list of all proposals was sent around last week. S. Traynor is anticipating that all of the circulating proposals will come to Senate on 11/19. All proposals that receive a positive recommendation will be set on the table at once, and senators can remove any that they want to discuss further, and the rest will go through in a block. There are some standing objections. There was a brief discussion of which proposals have objections.

There continue to be parking issues, which the committee is looking at. Parking – lots have been lost. There will be a safety walk this week, on 11/8 at dusk (about 5 p.m.) with students. S. Courson asked to have a disabled student participate in the safety walk. There was a discussion of crosswalks and curb cuts. S. Courson noted that the Science and Technology building is currently behind schedule. There was a brief discussion.

A. Turner noted that there is no crosswalk between Founders and Carrier. J Grunenwald noted that this is being addressed.

B. Sweet asked about the construction delays and penalties. J. Grunenwald replied that this is open to negotiation. There was a brief discussion.
H. Venango – D. Lott

E. Donato noted that there have been questions about the final exam schedule, which were sent to L Hepler, who replied that the final exam schedule has not been set yet. There was a discussion of possible solutions. L. Hepler also informed E. Donato that make up exams will be at the discretion of faculty – no time will be set aside in the exam schedule for them.

C. McAleer asked about the ending dates of the pre-session and summer session 2. There was a brief discussion. C McAleer suggested that the number of minutes have to be counted.

II. Approval of the minutes
C. McAleer moved and B. Sweet seconded to approve the minutes of November 5, 2007, with one correction.

III. Announcements – None

IV. President’s Report – J. Grunenwald
- At the PASSHE level, there have been changes to the legal counsel. PASSHE will consolidate legal services in Harrisburg. This means that Clarion has a new lawyer, Mike Ferguson. J. Grunenwald will meet with him Wednesday morning.
- There is draft proposal regarding the Cal in the High School program that presidents will see in December. At this point, it seems as though many quality issues have been addressed, and the idea is that all 14 schools can participate if they choose. A lot of details still need to be worked out.
- The search committee for the COBA dean has been formed. The committee reviewed the job description and ad, and a timeline for the search has been sketched out. The search is moving ahead, with a mid-February cutoff date for applications.
- T. Pfannestiel provided an update on the provost search. The telephone interviews have concluded, and the committee will invite up to five candidates for campus visits early in the spring semester.
- J. Grunenwald reminded senators of upcoming events: there is an employee holiday luncheon next Wednesday, and all are invited. There is also the Third Annual Holiday Spectacular concert Thursday, Nov. 29, 7:30, in Marwick-Boyd Auditorium.
- J. Grunenwald thanked all faculty for their service to Clarion students and to the University.

V. Student Senate – M. Loveless
Members of Student Senate went to Dallas last week for an American Association of Student Governments conference. Student Senate also completed a successful Safety Walk. They are looking forward to the get-together with Faculty Senate.

VI. New Business – CCPS – S. Traynor
1) Read ins.
2) As an informational item, the MA in English has been placed in moratorium effective immediately. The intent of the department is to revamp the program.
3) All circulating proposals that have not been withdrawn have received a positive recommendation from CCPS. A motion was made by CCPS to approve all of the circulating proposals.
- There was a brief discussion. S. Traynor indicated that there were several changes circulated by Education that involved changes in degree requirements, which involved moving courses to the left side of the checksheet to count as General Education requirements. These proposals have been withdrawn temporarily until the gen ed work has been completed. They will not have to recirculate next semester if they are left as-is. There were also a few courses that had some discussion and objections.

- S. Montgomery asked if the new integrated science courses will replace physical science on the checksheets for education majors. S Harris replied that he doesn’t think so.

There was a brief discussion, during which B Brancato indicated that elementary education majors still have to have nine credits of science.

- The motion passed.

VII. Dean Prioleau

R. Prioleau thanked Senate for inviting her, and noted that she has been welcomed by the campus community. She said that her model as dean is one of service-leadership, with commitments to students as the first priority, and to faculty as another important priority. Academic programming is a third priority, as it allows the university to recruit and retain students and faculty. She noted that there will be a new assistant dean, Kim Verdone.

- E. Donato asked about the faculty development grant money in Arts and Sciences. R. Prioleau replied that an announcement will be coming soon about these grants, and that the dean’s office has already transferred $30,000 to departments for professional travel. The dean’s office will have two additional funds – one will be for professional development to which faculty can apply for conference participation and for research. The second will be summer stipends for research, curriculum redesign, course redesign, and innovative research. In total there will be about $20,000 available. She noted that there is a relationship between teaching and research, and that she is committed to increasing resources for faculty.

- K. Bingham noted that as an advisor, she is sometimes confronted by students who don’t feel they are being served well in various respects. She asked if the dean had suggestions. R. Prioleau replied that teaching and advising go together. She suggested that students who have issues with advisement first try to make contact with the department chair. She said the dean’s office has to send a message that advising is important. K. Bingham followed up by asking what about if a student is not happy with a teacher. R. Prioleau replied that there are policies and procedures in place and that she would work with the department chair to address any specific problem.

- K. Bingham asked about spring scheduling. R. Prioleau replied that the priority is to make sure that students who need to graduate have the classes they need. The college has been adding some classes to meet those needs at the 300-400 level. She noted that department chairs and faculty have been flexible in making this happen. The college has also added some sections in math, for students already on a waiting list. There is still some capacity in some humanities and social science courses, but the natural sciences are at capacity. She is asking dept chairs to look at upper level courses with low enrollments and think about “redeploying” faculty.

VIII. Committee Reports

A. CCPS – S. Traynor – No report

B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough - No report
C. CCR – S. Sentner – No report

D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel
The Academic Standards Committee is continuing to work on the revision to the wording of the grade appeal policy. They will try to bring this to the final senate meeting of the semester.

E. Budget – S. Montgomery
The Budget Committee met on 11/6 with P. Bylaska with a slate of questions that focused on the performance indicators. The highlights of the discussion were: in terms of the performance indicators, many are based on very small numbers, so there are statistical fluctuations that we can’t always do much about. They will probably go up next year since there are year to year comparisons. P. Bylaska said that J. Grunenwald believes good principles are more important than indicators. The reserves can be used to ward off short term shortfalls. The committee asked if reserves would help the university through demographic shifts. The answer was no – those won’t get us through long term change. To get through demographic changes, P. Bylaska suggested a number of ideas – first, make cuts. We should build the “right size” with smaller footprints. Also, the university can diversify its revenue stream and ward off demographic shifts by expanding extended programs.
There was also a PRAAC meeting, which provided a financial picture as of the beginning of the semester. Some highlights: budget synopsis shows that we were balanced at the beginning of the year, but because of performance indicators we are now about $100k in the red. B. Barnes talked about admissions and enrollment, and not much has changed since last year. There was a demographic peak in Western PA about five years ago, and the rest of state will peak this year. He noted that some programs are frequently requested, including criminal justice and art education. S. Montgomery asked about start up funds for science faculty at the PRAAC meeting and J. Grunenwald replied that there was money in equipment budgets that science departments could choose to use as start-up funding.
J. Grunenwald clarified that about $50,000 has been added for science equipment to advance the agenda of science and technology departments. He noted that departments could use to this to recruit faculty, but there is no additional money beyond that. R. Prioleau noted that there are searches pending in fields where there is customarily start-up money, and she will be meeting tomorrow with science departments to discuss where funding is needed to recruit faculty, on a case-by-case basis.

F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik
The third session of the Faculty Author Seminar Series, was held on Wednesday and went well. There will be three more sessions next semester.

G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson
There was a Facilities Planning meeting on 11/15. Highlights included: construction teams are making great progress on the dining hall and residence suites, and construction on the science and technology building is coming along. The committee developed a plan to reassign parking lots for orientation (mostly affecting lot H). On the director of facilities planning search, the position has been readvertised with a broader description, and some applications have been received. Also, the committee received a list of the Key 93 funded projects for this year, which provides $690,000 for renovation and repairs. There are gas crews on campus, which are not tied to the construction projects. There was a discussion of construction, and some of the difficulties in keeping sidewalks and roadways passable.

S. Montgomery asked about the minimum qualifications for the facilities planning director. S. Courson replied that it was initially advertised as an engineering degree, and was expanded to a degree in engineering, architecture or related fields. J. Grunenwald added that it could be filled by a certified construction manager.

P. Kolencik asked about the student safety walk. S. Courson replied that there was a lengthy discussion of this at the meeting. Because of several constraints, they can’t put a crosswalk on Wood St. at Hart Chapel. There was a discussion of crosswalk issues. J. Beal noted that there are technical problems in relocating the crosswalks, and the safest way is not always the most convenient.

H. Venango – D. Lott

The 2nd satellite seminar lecture had a good turnout. The trip for Venango honors students to the Body exhibit at the Carnegie Science Center went well, and D. Lott noted that it was an excellent presentation.

IX. Old Business

A. Calendar for 2009-10.

Questions posed by Senate on the calendar have been answered: the number of minutes for the summer sessions are all fine. The presession in 2010 ends on Thursday because there are 14 days in the session (Memorial Day in 2010 is after the end of the session). Session 2 ends on Thursday because there are twenty four class days; previous sessions included 25 days, so this has been fixed. Session 1 ends on a Friday because of the July 4 holiday.

M. Loveless noted that the student senate considered the calendar last week.

B. Get-Together with Student Senate will be held on 12/3 from 5:30-6:30 in Moore Hall.

X. New Business – No additional new business

XI. Adjournment

B. Sweet moved and P. Kolencik seconded the move to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:35 p.m.

VII. Dean Groves
J. Groves discussed his perspective on the role of faculty Senate. He noted that Senate serves two important roles: first, in the governance of the university; second, its review of large questions such as the nature of the university and trends in higher education. He said that balancing the two can be difficult. He discussed some rapid changes in higher education, including more demands for accountability, increased market pressure on programs, and more competition. These changes strain the cooperative environment in higher education, making it more competitive. He said that some changes happen without purposeful guidance and discussion, and that there is a need to dedicate time to explore what is happening in the culture of higher education so that we can purposefully shape it, both at Clarion and at the larger level of the academy. There is a strong tradition of seeking and promoting truth, and this is important to maintain. He said that there is a need for discussion of what is happening and the collision between a more cooperative and more competitive culture. There are aspects of competition that we have to address. He said that it is important not to lose sight of these issues in the day-to-day pressures of doing business, and a need to set time aside, which is a worthy role for Senate.
K. Bingham asked if he is challenging Senate to look at higher education and the role of Clarion rather than focusing on day-to-day business. J. Groves replied that he is suggesting it is a worthy topic for discussion.
E. Donato asked how he would reconcile the need to compete for students versus the need to maintain high standards of quality. J. Groves replied that he sees this as an opportunity, and that standards are the only way to balance competition with excellence.
J. Beal asked what he sees coming next out of Harrisburg. J. Groves replied that there may be a little downtime, but that some key questions now seem to be around defining elementary education (grades 4-8), and also about balancing the 120 credit limit. He said that Clarion is ahead of the rest of the state system in terms of moving to a standards based framework for general education. K. Bingham noted that there have been compromises in order to provide substantive general education course to students who also have to meet state requirements in a field. J. Groves said that the shift to standards allows us to talk about the kinds of knowledge and skills that graduates should have in a clearer way.

VIII. Committee Reports
   A. CCPS – S. Traynor – No report

   B. Student Affairs – J. McCullough
   The subcommittee on Student Activities reviewed Who’s Who applications, and students should be notified this week. There were not many applications, only about 17 for 150 slots.

   C. CCR – S. Sentner – No report

   D. Academic Standards – T. Pfannestiel
   Suspension hearings are scheduled for Thursday 1/10. K. Bingham noted that she will send the committee a report on students on probation taking AE 100.

   E. Budget – S. Montgomery – No report

   F. Faculty Affairs – P. Kolencik
   There will be three more sessions of the Faculty Author Seminar Series next semester. The committee will be planning the retirement reception.

   G. Institutional Resources – S. Courson
   The technology subcommittee will meet Wednesday. They are working on ways to put the CCPS paperwork online. Please contact R. Nulph with any suggestions on this. S. Sentner asked for an update on replacing faculty computers. S. Courson noted that there is no new information, but that it is now up to the deans. There was a discussion of administrative privileges on computers. J. Beal said that there are now two levels of admin privileges. There was also a brief discussion of the switch to Office 2007. S. Courson said faculty should contact the help desk for support. J. Knepper said that it is possible to add Office 2007 and also to keep the old version.

   H. Venango – D. Lott
   The committee will meet tomorrow (12/4).

IX. Old Business
   A. Get- Together with Student Senate will be held on today from 5:30-6:30 in Moore Hall.
X. New Business
A. The role of faculty Senate
Concerns have been expressed to E. Donato about the role of Faculty Senate, and whether Senate has been taking on as much as its mission suggests. E. Donato read a memo from H. Savage that outlined specific concerns. A lengthy discussion followed. K. Bingham noted that this coincides with some of the issues raised by J. Groves. The possibility of changing the venue of full Senate meetings to larger and more public space was discussed as a way to encourage people to attend. There were concerns that there is not another appropriate space. E. Donato said that meetings are open, and reviewed the process of bringing issues before Senate: any faculty can bring an issue to the chair, who presents it to the policy committee, which decides whether to bring it before Senate. C. McAleer noted that meetings in the past were extremely long, which made it difficult to get faculty to serve on Senate or committees. There was a discussion of past practice at meetings. S. Montgomery said that here may have been issues in the last few years that should probably have been addressed by Senate. C. McAleer made a motion, seconded by T. Pfannestiel, to have senators read through the Faculty Senate Constitution and by-laws, so that all senators are familiar with the role of Senate and its procedures. The motion passed. S. Courson said that another issue is the training of new senators. E. Donato suggested that new Senate members, and also new members of the policy committee, receive a better orientation. The policy committee will consider this issue. There was a discussion of making minutes available via email or hard copy. J. Beal said that it would need to be minutes which had already been approved by Senate. E. Donato indicated that approved minutes are posted on the web, but an additional email sent to all faculty with the minutes would be easy to implement. J. Phillips said that short meetings do not indicate that Senate isn’t working, pointing out that some work is done by committees, and other work is seasonal. There was a lengthy discussion of the role of Senate in advising the administration on university policy.

B. Next meetings
E. Donato reminded senators that the next policy committee meeting will be on 1/23, and Senate meeting on 1/28. She also thanked B. Register and H. Savage for serving one-semester terms on Senate this fall.

XI. Adjournment
C. McAleer moved and B. Sweet seconded the move to adjourn. Faculty Senate adjourned at 4:35 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Laurie Occhipinti
Secretary, Faculty Senate
