Research Help Is Here!

Do you need personalized help getting started with a research assignment? The librarians at Carlson Library are available to answer questions and point you in the right direction! Can't make it to the library? You can still benefit from the helpful advice of a reference librarian by giving us a call or contacting us via our online Chat, Texting, or E-Mail Reference Services.

Phone... If a quick call will help, please let us hear from you:

Carlson Library 814-393-2490

Distance Education students 1-866-272-5612 (press 5 for Libraries)

Chat... If online chat is your style, try our Live Chat Reference Service.

It's available during the times that Carlson Library reference services are available:

Monday – Thursday 10:00 am – 9:00 pm

Friday 10:00 am – 5:00 pm

Sunday 1:00 pm – 5:00 pm

Text... If the question is simple and the reply is too, you can contact our reference librarians by texting to 814-343-9324. Note: Standard messaging rates apply.

Remember that SMS stands for Short Message Service. If the question (or answer) requires in-depth discussion, you probably should contact the Reference Librarian using another option.

E-Mail... When reference librarians are not available, and your need is not time sensitive, contact them via email using our Ask a Librarian service. An email link is located on that page.

24/7... If you need help when the library is closed, we've got it covered. Clarion University Libraries have made arrangements for librarians at a consortium of other universities to help you. They don't know your courses, assignments, or professors, but they will do all that they can to help you find the resources you need.

At the Clarion University Libraries website, click on the Ask a Librarian / LibAnswers link on the right-hand side of the screen. Then, click on the Ask Here PA link on the lower left side of the screen. Follow the instructions and link to a college librarian elsewhere.

The S.W.A.T. Minion's Tip: Why Computers Cannot Boot Instantly

Computers are "state machines". The problem is that the initial condition the computer starts with is not very useful to you and me.

What is useful (a fully booted computer), lies millions of steps further down that 'state machine.'

To illustrate how a "state machine" works, consider these very simple examples...

- Vending machines dispense products when the proper combination of coins are deposited
- Elevators drop riders off at upper floors before going down
- Traffic lights change sequence when cars are waiting
- Combination locks require the input of combination numbers in the proper order

The easiest way for developers to describe the useful, running state of a computer is to define it in programs, and those programs will always take more than 'zero time' to run. While boot up times have definitely improved in the past few years, and will continue to improve as time goes on, there is - and will always be - a lot going on 'behind the screen' every time you start up your favorite computer.

Cranial Candy: Word Of The Week

rancid

PRONUNCIATION:

RAN sid

MEANING:

When food starts to decay, it's rancid: it smells and tastes really gross.

Figuratively, something rancid is gross or disgusting, as if it's starting to decay. And rancid things seem to get worse and worse (nastier and nastier) as time goes on.

PART OF SPEECH:

Adjective.

(Adjectives are describing words, like "large" or "late.")

They can be used in two ways:

1. Right before a noun, as in "rancid jealousy."
2. After a linking verb, as in "Their jealousy grew rancid.")

HOW TO USE IT:

You can be literal: talk about rancid meat, rancid odors, rancid tastes, rancid butter, rancid laundry, a rancid basement, and so on.

But we'll focus on the figurative use. Talk about rancid feelings or opinions that get nastier as time goes on: rancid jealousy, rancid hatred, rancid misanthropy, rancid bigotry, etc.

Often you'll say something grows rancid, becomes rancid, goes rancid, and so on: "Their bitterness grew rancid." "The rivalry went rancid." Something could start out as a good thing and then grow rancid: "Her concern grew rancid, devolving into an unhealthy obsession."

Lastly, someone or something can be rancid with some negative quality: "Her reviews are rancid with scorn."

Although we do not "repair" computers, the S.W.A.T. Team (Students Who Assist [with] Technology) on Level A of Carlson Library is always happy to help. Having an issue? Let us take a swat at it!

beauty is a light in the heart.*
